WE NOMINATE

Marjorie Baker Woodrow, housewife, volunteer worker and a beaming 6-time grandmother, who at this hectic season of the year is handling — among other things — the ticket sales for the December 8th (10:00 a.m.-1:00 p.m.) Princeton Tour of Houses and Christmas Shops sponsored by the Association of the N. J. Neuro-Psychiatric Institute. What is amazing about this dedicated, and completely "unflappable," volunteer is the fact that she does all of her work in her Rosedale Road home where she can avoid the "ladies' meetings" she can't abide and can accomplish "in minutes" the kinds of jobs that might require hours of committee deliberations away from home.

Struck down in 1916 by polio, which afflicted 75 percent of her body, she was told by specialists at Massachusetts General Hospital in her native Boston that she would never get out of bed again. Mrs. Woodrow reacted with her usual determination: "It just made me mad," she remembers. A quarter-century later she has not only worked for the NJNPI but for the March of Dimes, Red Cross, the Princeton Hospital Fete and P.T.A. She has raised four children, one born after the polio attack, has traveled South America with her husband and does her own sewing, housekeeping and cooking — all from a wheelchair.

A resident of Arlington, Mass., and the daughter of a well-known dentist, she and her husband, Raymond Jay Woodrow, Associate Treasurer of Princeton University and Director of its Office of Research and Project Administration, were married in 1935 when he was a graduate student at M.I.T. and she — "just to keep my hand in" — was studying English and psychology at Harvard. "Psychologically," she points out, "it was a very good thing that we moved to Princeton 21 years ago following my bout with polio. If we had stayed in Boston, where all of my relatives and friends were, I would have been surrounded with sympathy and that would have been a very bad thing."

"You develop a sixth sense about many things," she explains, "when you are in a wheelchair." (Mrs. Woodrow never uses the word confined.) "I can tell when a wrong drawer is being opened, when a door slightly clicks and I have a strong sense of smell for smoke. In fact, I once put a fire out from the wheelchair, but hopefully never again." After her youngest child was born, and all four are now married and "gone from home," Mrs. Woodrow, noting that her lung strength returned immediately, had him so well trained that "since I couldn't catch up with him once he started walking he would come back to me to get spanked."

In a recent interview with an out-of-town reporter Mrs. Woodrow recalled a memory which underscores her rare and unquenchable spirit: "When we came here I had a brace on one arm and both legs. I had to have full-time help at first. But one day I said to myself, 'I am going to get rid of these braces and even see whether or not I can get out of the wheelchair. I tried for 3½ hours and finally made it. I stood up.' The woman who was working for me at the time literally blanched when she saw me." Once the challenge had been conquered, Mrs. Woodrow settled back in her wheelchair to continue her wonderfully active life.

For believing so deeply in the things she believes in; for her enthusiasm for the "wonders" being performed by volunteers at the Neuro-Psychiatric Institute; for her deep concern for others and for the well-being of the world around her, she is TOWN TOPICS' nominee as

"WE BELIEVE IN DOING"

Youth Center Gross Strong.
It's more than a Youth Center
now. It's a strong, growing Center for all Princeton's black residents.

In the four months since it took a new and different lease on life and a new director in Don Evans, the Princeton Youth Center has shown the community another definition of the word "recreation."

"It's not our plan to run a recreation center," Mr. Evans says flatly. "The community here is learning more important ideas of 're-creating' your self."

Art exhibits, typing classes, plays, karate, visits to colleges, music, photography — These "work to be done in so many areas!" Mr. Evans exclaims, as he talks about the Center's program this fall.
And his plans for winter and spring.

"This is our focal point: to show black kids, not necessarily oppression, but different ways people relate to their blackness and deal with it. A painter relates in a different way from somebody who isn't a painter. Kids can deal with their own hardships in the same way. We believe in DOING, not just a lot of rhetoric..."

Music and Dance. The newest project in the red brick building at Witherspoon and Green, is the Concert Series that starts this Sunday with a Philadelphia gospel chorus.

Mr. Evans is exploring Julliard and other music schools to find young black pianists who can handle the serious music young black composers. Then he'll bring them to the Center. "We want outstanding... performers in many fields."

The most recent performer was Catherine MacLean, who came to the Center over the Thanksgiving weekend. "A beautiful performer! The kids were floored by her — she was a new experience for them.
She had great rapport with that audience."

Another new Center program is the dance workshop, conducted by Marian Coylet who comes from Philadelphia once every two weeks to work with a group of "women of all ages" in a rigorous, five-hour training session. "She's welcome men, too, but right now, the workshop is mostly women."

Drama. Don Evans is still an English teacher at Princeton High School (two classes a day) and still the guiding force behind high school theatre. This means that theatre, even in these short four months, has been a strong part of Youth Center structure.

Next will come Langston Hughes' comedy "Simply Heavenly," to be given at the Center December 17, 18 and 19.
"Ceremonies in Dark Old Men," the first production of the Center's Lorraine Hansberry Repertory Company, was an encouraging success.

"The Hughes comedy has a bigger cast and we can put on a play with a bigger cast because we have more community involvement now," Mr.
Evans explains. "We have
Mrs. Oneta Campbell, Mrs.
Carolyn Adams — adults who aren't necessarily 'performers'."

In February, Mr. Evans will direct Ed Bullins' "In the Time of the Butterflies." In the summer, the Center will do a pair of Alice Childress' plays.

Alice Childress came to the Center this fall in the Lecture Series and said, "Mr. Evans puts it, 'She bridged all the gaps — a middle-aged woman, but very aware, and when she read from her own plays, some people were weeping. We've had dynamite people in this series and for very little money! People built kids and adults can relate to. Fred Gar-afternoons. There is still room for more boys, according to John Springer, director of athletics at the Y. Meets will be held Saturday afternoons.

rett, one of the directors of the college start thinging about the Negro Ensemble Company it." S'nae people tell me it's wrong to raise false hopes in these kids, but I don't see it that way. Kids see different colleges, they compare and make choices. A kid is beginning to define what he wants of life. Maybe he'll have to work four times as hard as a kid who has the money and maybe he'll have to wait five years, but we have no right to say 'let's not raise false hopes.'"

Art and Learning. The two man art exhibit this fall, exhibiting black artists Frank Bridgewater and Carl Overton, was another Center success. Over 200 people came on the opening night alone.

The Center's Education Committee is one of its most active parts. The "Funds for College" panel session drew 123 kids and adults to the Center on a Saturday afternoon, asking questions of the experts about finding money for college.

The College Exploratory Program takes kids on excursions to various colleges. "This is a good program and working fine," Mr. Evans says, pleasant. "Maybe a kid goes along just for the ride, but he becomes college-oriented afterwards. Ones who never thought

MILLET TO SPEAK

In Feminism Series, Kate Millet, author of "Sexual Politics" will be the final speaker in the Princeton Adult School's "Exploring the New Feminism" series. She will speak in the Princeton High School auditorium this Thursday at 9 p.m. on "A Better Future: Prospects for Change."

Use of the anticipated crowds, the Adult School advises those who want to hear Ms. Millet to arrive early. The speaker uses the term "Ms." rather than "Miss" or "Mrs." Additional parking space is available in the John Jay Avenue lot on Guyot Avenue off Walnut Lane. A P. on Herkila's Franklin Avenue parking lot.

The Adult School's "Art P. on Herkila's" series has been allotted a two-hour period this Thursday. Leo Dratfield, Princeton resident who is president of Contemporary Films, will speak on "The Short Film as an Art Form," and will show several Academy Award shorts and new films. Lecture and films will be presented in Room 125 of the high school. Those who attend may remain to discuss the films with Mr. Dratfield.

The 9 p.m. series "Spatial Evening of the Fall Term for Princeton Adult School," will have John P. Moran as speaker on the topic "The Regional Approach." Mr.

John P. Moran

Moran is General Manager of Planning, Plant and Properties for Princeton University, and is president of the Middlesex-Somerset-Mercer Regional Study Council. An architect, engineer and planner, he is a member of the Mercer County Planning Board.

This Thursday is the final of the Princeton Adult School. The spring term will begin in January.

ful and supportive." Len Brown, University undergraduate and assistant director of the Center, runs the College Exploratory Program with the help of two other undergraduates.

If You're Younger . . . Mr. Brown also runs the afternoon program for Middle School and elementary school kids—a continuation of the program he had this summer at the Community House on Witherspoon Street.

"Supportive education" is what they call it, and about 75 to 100 youngsters come. Typing classes, black history classes, drama improvisation, visits to museums, all with the close cooperation of Middle School teachers.

Our approach is, the instructor is responsible," Mr. Evans says. "He goes to the home and gets the child who's absent. Family involvement is very important; parents drive us along in the car when we go places, and play an important part in the program."

But drop in is still part of the Youth Center. George Kornegay is in charge of a game room. There's a pool game going on downstairs at the same time as a lecture in the auditorium upstairs, and both are well attended.

The comfortable library with handsome leather furniture, books, record player, room to relax, is always open. There's karate, and there are photography workshops with assignments from Bill Saunders, the photographer.

Romus Broadway, Arthur Barclay are always there to help. Ted Woods, of the University's architecture department, is designing for the Bulfinch production. Jo Woodley of Improvisation Boutique is designing costumes.

Money. So the community is represented and the roots are growing stronger. But to feed them, the Center needs money. Even though the Princeton Fund support will begin in January.

Mr. Evans would like to bring top artists in as money-makers ("When you go that cheap, you can't afford to go cheap . . .") and he feels keenly the need for a professional staff.

"A dance teacher ought to be here full time. We ought to have artists: scenic designers to train the kids professionally; a professional, mature, pianist — we need these things."

In January, the Center plans a party for people on its mailing list. "We'll tell where we've been, and ask for advice on where to go," Mr. Evans explains.

The Center, in one of its aspects, is an adjunct of the schools, he believes.

"The schools see the Center as a way of reaching kids and families they don't usually see. Kids feel relaxed and comfortable in the Center situation. A lot of black parents don't come until 5 or after. School close before that. The Co-ops is a go-between. Around here you can help a kid get himself together better. But . . . we do need money!"

ALLEN TO RUN

For School Board. The first school board candidate of the season is T. C. Allen, 310 Jefferson Road, a vice-president of the National Association of Manufacturers in New York, who has announced his intention of filing for the single Township seat on the board. He has been a resident of the Township for five years. He and his wife have two children in Princeton High School and one in the Middle School.

Deadline for filing is 4 p.m.,

December 24. Petitions may be taken out at the Stony Brook Administration Building on Stockton Street.

Incumbent William Marvel has not yet announced whether he will run for re-election. If he does, he will be running against Mr. Allen for the Township seat.

Borough board members John Marks and William Abrams have already announced they will not run. No Borough candidates have filed so far for their seats.

"Perhaps the major issue urging me to seek this position," he stated, "is that the school board overlooks or does not fully recognize, management responsibility."

"Our school administrators at all levels must be permitted to operate the schools by utilizing their own abilities, skills and creativity, limited only by the established board policies. This approach to board management will maximize development and growth of our educational aims."

Mr. Allen commended William Schlen and the Long Range Planning Committee. "I hope I might have the opportunity to help implement the report's potential educational impact for the children of Princeton."

"The Board must place the needs and concerns of the school system above personal and political differences," he said. "I will encourage such a sense of unity."

Mr. Allen's biography includes 20 years of management experience ranging from 16 years with International Telephone Telegraph, two years on the placement staff at Penn State and a term as director of Plans for Progress in the Federal Equal Employment Opportunity Program jointly sponsored by business and government.

BI-PARTISAN CHOICE?

For Andrews. "I'm confident we can work something out that will be agreeable to all of us," said Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley this week in reference to the resignation from Council of Democrat James Andrews.

When Mr. Andrews resigns after the first of the year to accept a new job in Atlanta, Georgia, Council will have four Democrats, one Republican, a Republican mayor, and Mr. Andrews' vacant seat to fill. Under the laws, the mayor makes the appointment, but Council can reject the appointment if it wants to.

With a majority like that, the Democrats would seem to be in control. And in fact, both Democratic Clubs — the Princeton Democratic Association and the Princeton Community Democratic Organization — are working together to find a single nominee they can both agree on, to propose to Mayor Cawley.

The mayor, on the other part, has been talking with many people, including Democrats and including Council Democrats, and he says that after a bi-partisan conference, a choice will be made that is agreeable to everyone on Council.

OPEN SPACE FINDER

William H. Walker (the lives in the Borough) and Joseph R.
Nim (the lives in the Township) both voted "no."

"It's a mistake to remove that road from the map," Mr.
Walker declared. "We could have a helluva traffic jam in the future without it. A right of-way on an official map doesn't mean a four-lane high way tomorrow, after all. There would be public hearings . . .
Mr. Nim said he agreed."

On a second resolution, the board voted, again 2 but with a different line up, to ask mayor and Borough Council to pull the old quarry between Spruce Street and Harrison, on the official map as parkland. Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley and James Andrews, who is a Borough Councilman as well as planning board member, both voted "no."

Mr. Andrews said he wanted to know all the eventual park
"targets," told his colleagues he was concerned about the tax burden of acquiring the land and suggested it was "irresponsible" to designate particular sites, especially when the community has a housing problem.

Mayor Cawley said he'd been told by municipal attorney Gordon Griffin that it wasn't appropriate to mark a site as "park" on an official map if the municipality wasn't likely to acquire it very soon.

The resolution was amended wiping out the idea of "acquiring" the land, and substituting the placement of it on the official map instead.
Council had decided in May to remove the quarry from the map as parkland, but had never told the Regional Planning Board.

"We want to raise the matter again," commented board member Norman Williams.
"Every part of town ought to have a neighborhood park.
This piece of land could be developed, so it's important to get it into public ownership."

NO SKI TRIP

(And Postponed.) Bubble
Princeton High won't have a ski trip this year, the bubble gym for the Middle School may not be taken up until next semester and the new Long Range Planning Report, scarcely in the community's mailboxes, already may be in the words of Superintendent

New Arrival

Here's old December,
All tardy to go
And still not a flurry
Of white Christmas snow.

The law of averages says
we will have six inches of snow while December is on the calendar, but the first part of the month is scheduled to bring relatively mild weather.

Skies will be partly sunny to cloudy through the weekend, with showers possible
Friday and again Sunday.
The long range forecast for the month calls for temperatures about normal — meaning an average of around 38 degrees.

Philip E. McPherson, "a possible antiskii fossil,"
The antiskii vote at the school board's pre-Thanksgiving meeting was 5:3. Those who opposed a ski-trip were:
Mrs. Kathleen Edwards, Henry Pownier, Mrs. Evelyn Geddes, William Abrams and President John Marks. In favor were William Marvel, Walter Price and Philip Crickshaft. Robert Bierman was absent.

The downhill course of the ski trip occupied almost an hour. Dr. Marvel, in a 20 minute prepared statement, argued that the board ought to approve a trip for this year and then re-examine policies.
He suggested that a "no" vote on the trip might be a reverse discrimination against students who could afford the cost.

Two students also urged the board to approve the trip. "It's almost a part of us," said Matt Neuberg, Student Council member. "I'd like a new car," said Council member Joey Muffa, "but I don't derive somebody else of a new car just because I can't afford one."

Mrs. Betty Howell, girls' physical education director, said the ski trip attracted a bout 19% of the student body — more than any other activity.

No Bubble? The bubble gym will go unutilized, until board, superintendent and staff decide what to do about overcrowding at Princeton High.

Dr. McPherson said this week that he will talk soon with staff and administrators to work out a "short-term response" to the over-crowding problem that was graphically described in the Long Range Planning report.

One possibility is moving the Middle School to John Witherspoon and the superintendent is reluctant to see site preparations for the bubble started at Community Park until a decision has been made.

He expects to make recommendations in January, he said, "but I'm not sure we'll be moving schools around."

board recommended the Long Range report, as community with rapid charge

The two newest concepts in electronic flash — rapid charge and automatic operation — make the Auto/Strobonar 332 the most advanced unit on the market today. With the Rapid Charge feature the 332 delivers about 30 flashes after a 20-minute charge. After a 3-hour charge, the 332 delivers approximately 50 flashes. Recycle time is about 9 seconds between each flash. The 332 is ready to shoot in minutes after being fully discharged — there's no overnight waiting to charge the unit! You can be assured of a full charge for a roll of film after charging for 20 minutes when the battery state is unknown. Heavy duty capability assures hundreds of pictures in a day if you need them.

reading for a winter evening, Dr. McPherson commented that the report might be a "political football."

At the meeting and in later comments, he said that many people had talked to him about the report, "and everybody talks in terms of politics; how does the report relate to board tensions? How does it relate to the superintendent?"

He told the board and the audience at the meeting that he wanted the public to read and study the document before he gave his opinions.

"This report is not a Trojan horse for the superintendent's ideas," he stated.

"I haven't detected any such tendency to use the report in this way," short back Dr. Marvel. "Let the record show that the superintendent was the first to intrude comments like this into a discussion of the report."

"I cannot commend the Long Range Commission too highly," Dr. McPherson said later. "All of us — and this includes board and superintendent — have an obligation to examine the report from an educational and not a political, point of view."

Tentative plans have been made for the superintendent to

Coffee with Superintendent

More "evening coffees" will be scheduled after the first of the year by School Superintendent Philip E. McPherson, he said this week, promising a report to the community on the series of "coffees" and "telephone hours" he held in the fall.

"There were a number of requests for more evening coffee sessions and I plan to schedule more after the first of the year."

Thursday telephone hours, and Friday listening sessions weren't so popular, the superintendent said, so he won't go on with them unless he does some rescheduling.

sit down with the Long Range Commission and talk about the report. "It's content and the use it can be useful," the superintendent said.

STEREO SET STOLEN

From Pyne Hall Room, Alex Lendesco of 113 Pyne Hall, Princeton University, reported the theft of his stereo system last week to Borough police.

Taken were an amplifier, turntable and tape recorder with a combined value of $554. Police said that a window had been broken to gain entry. Detective Arthur Gallant is continuing the investigation.

Diana Hudgins of Skillman

lost police that someone took her wallet containing $61 from her purse while she was bowling Friday at the Princeton Recreation Lanes on Nassau Street.

Two women employees of Princeton Hospital reported batteries stolen from their cars parked in the hospital lot on Franklin Avenue. They are Sara Levine of New Brunswick and Susanne Naylor of Lambertville.

Sacristy Entered. Someone walked into St. Paul's Church Sunday between 2 and 4 p.m. and entered the sacristy in the rear.

A box was forced open but there was no money in it, police said.

Vandalism continues at the construction site at the YMCA. Monday night police received a report that vandals had rolled a flat bed trailer into a wooden picket fence that borders the property of Merwick and the Y. Damage to the fence was slight.

NEW PRESIDENT NAMED

For Battlefield Society. William P. Starr Jr., 149 Meadowbrook Drive, has been named acting president of the Princeton Battlefield Area Preservation Society, succeeding Robert Clifford, who is in Samoa on an assignment for the United Nations.

Mr. Starr, who is Engineer of Design, Airports, for the Port Authority of New York, has been serving as treasurer of the group formed this year. A 1933 graduate of the University of Maryland, he has a law degree from Catholic University. He is also active in the Stony Brook Millstone Watersheds Association.

William P. Starr Jr.

The objectives of the Society include the preservation and restoration of historic buildings, preservation and enlargement of the battlefield site, and conservation of Stony Brook valley as open space.

SIGN BAN ADVOCATED

By County Republican Chairman. Mercer County Republican W. Harry Saven has advocated the discontinuance of the use of signs in future political campaigns here.

Mr. Saven said the GOP would purchase no more outdoor advertising devices such as billboards, bumper stickers and professionally printed signs, if the Mercer Democratic organization would agree to do likewise. He said the signs contributed to "visual pollution" and, by doing away with them, the two parties could save about $20,000 between them for each election.

Mr. Saven said he suggested

TEFONAZTLI

Is the Artee name for a sit drum of this type.

It is made entirely of wood.

The timbre is reminiscent of a steel drum, but mellower.

Each drum produces 2 pitches, a perfect fourth apart. I have two sizes. With one of each, you can produce 4 pitches.

They are hand made and beautifully finished.

Used by amateur and professional drummers, nursery schools, convalescent, and as recreation for children and adults.

"Teach Me to Read—You'll Change My Life"

"Did you ever consider what it would be like if you could not read at all? Of course you could not drive a car. You could not get a license and you could not even read the signs—you could not read the notes your child brought home from school. This last item was what made me realize that a number of one of my school children could not read: she asked me to please call her when school was closing early instead of relying on a note."

Mrs. Esther Roberts, Social Education teacher at John Witherspoon School, made this discovery last spring, and has since been using the Wednesday afternoon program to teach this Princeton mother how to read. She told about her experience in a recent issue of the Wednesday Program bulletin.

"As we talked about it, I learned that she knew all her letters but not one of the sounds they make. Words were just a jumble of letters with no meaning. I offered to help her rather cautiously as I realized she was somewhat embarrassed at this lack. Her answer was: 'If you can teach me to read you will change my whole life.'"

"This was last spring and I started then spending my Wednesday afternoons with her. She went to school in the days when 'Look Say' was at its height with no phonics allowed. Many children learned that way but we know today that although most children can learn to read by any method, there is a small proportion for whom a certain type of teaching is the only one that works.

"Since 'Look Say' had not worked with her, we started with a teaching method which is largely phonetic. The books are also quite self-explanatory which means she has been able to accomplish a great deal by herself between Wednesdays."

"This has been an exciting experience for us both. She is now at the point where she can figure out some new words by herself, and the other day she said to me with great excitement, 'I can read stories out loud to my daughter!'"

When Mrs. Roberts asked the mother's permission before writing about her, the mother said to me, "May be some teachers reading this will know of a parent I could help."

the "no sign policy" in a letter to his counterpart, State Sen. Richard J. Colfer, but has received no reply as yet.

The Republican chairman said he was prompted to air his views because of a letter to the editor in a newspaper, which accused politicians, both parties for "polluting" the city and surrounding sub-urbs by having their signs on weeks after the election. I'm in 100 per cent agreement with that letter," he added.

STUDENT ASSAULTED

Princeton University student was assaulted at 2:25 Sunday morning as he was walking from 100 Hall to 102 Hall.

Police said that a man accompanied by a girl stopped the victim, Richard Carroll, in 102 Hall, in the face, knocking off his glasses. As Mr. Carroll bent down to retrieve his glasses, he was struck again in the head and kicked, police said.

Mr. Carroll did not require medical attention. Police said that he could give no reason for the attack.

EIGHT ARE FINED

In Traffic Court, Eight Princeton area residents were cited Monday in Borough Traffic court by Judge Theodor T. Tams Jr.

Patricia P. Murphy, 17, 104 Brook Drive, and Bruce H. Edwards, 38, Princeton Pike, both $10 and $16 for speeding. Gregory R. Chapman, 23, 44 Vandewater Avenue paid $12 for a red light violation, the same amount paid by Jennifer L. Week, 17, 313 Princeton Road, Plainsboro, for failing to observe a stop sign.

Other offenders: John E. Saete, 18, 101 Keweenaw Street, $20, noisy muffler; Frederick P. King, 32, 99 Rattle Road, $20, driving on a sidewalk; Elizabeth H. Somers, 60, 40 Moran Avenue, $15, leaving a disabled vehicle without warning lights; and Richard K.

Paynter Jr., 66, Province Line Road, $15, failing to yield right of way to a private drive.

In criminal court last week, Daniel McComas of Elm Drive, Belle Meade, was fined $35 as a minor in possession of alcohol. He pleaded guilty.

In earlier traffic violations, four paid fines of $15 each: Michael E. Yates, 21, 11 Shirley Court; Caroline S. Weymar, 32, 461 Prospect Avenue; and James P. Printer, 17, of Belle Mead, all careless driving. Frank Rossi, 18, 28 Princeton Avenue, Princeton Junction, operating a motor vehicle on a permit without a licensed driver, and Margaret Schmidt, 21, 36 Humber Street, late inspection.

Speeding cost Miriam W. Coletti, 67, Rosedale Road, $20. Evan M. Melhado, 24, of the Graduate College, paid $12 for a red light violation.

POLICE POLICY

Town Gov. to Mrs. J. Police and security chiefs of Borough Township and University will meet each month from now on, to discuss policies and duties. The regular sessions were decided upon following a police and security meeting last Tuesday.

Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley said this week that three major policy areas are involved. The most important concerns major civil disorders which may have their start on the University campus.

"We can't have a rigid policy," the mayor explained, "but we need a firm enough policy so that we can work together in different kinds of disorders."

Prompt alerting the chance for municipal police to keep an eye on the campus when there's incipient trouble and perhaps nip it in the bud, and the opportunity for municipal police to be involved in decision making on campus all these are important, the mayor said.

Where drugs, arson, stealing and similar matters are concerned, "We hope the Borough, Township and University can work together better—although our cooperation is already good," Mayor Cawley said.

He indicated that the Mercer County Prosecutor's Office might move in more closely to municipal and University police, exchanging information so the police will know more about what's going on, and perhaps understand undercover agents.

The third area of discussion concerns minor offenses like trespass, and the question between town and gown is, "Who handles what?"

MUSIC FOR CHRISTMAS

At Choir College, A concert of Medeval carols will be given by the Westminster Choir College Chamber Singers on Sunday, December 13 in Bristol Chapel on the Westminster campus.

This concert, part of the regular "Vesper Concert Series," will begin at 4 and is open to the public without charge.

raft of things for the child who loves miniatures. Amusing models, too.

The theme at Gallery 100 is "International Everything," and you'll find simple and gay music boxes from Europe ($12-$25); lots of games, including "Poem Puzzles" ($1.75); and many, many art things for youngsters.

There are dolls and miniature animals and wall hangings in simple, bold patterns, decoratively stitched by Mara Altveier ($15). You'll find here some really woolly lambs from Ireland, with quizzical expressions. (Natural, creamy color, $5).

Pierre Cardin wallets, as well as an interesting line by Prince Gardner, are stocked in depth at Studio Twelve in the Montgomery Shopping Center. Prices range from $7.50 to $25 or so, and there is a complete color range. Those that you see displayed are only the tip of the iceberg, so you leave. The Cardins include

Let's Organize Mother...

Attractive solutions to her storage problems (why won't you throw anything away?) come from Rubbernard — such as drawer organizers that interlock (40¢ ea.); racks for dinnerware ($13.98) and drawers that hook under the wall cabinets for flour, or coffee beans, or sandwich wraps. At 17¢ ea.

For the mother who is longing to get down to her own work at last, how about a family gift of a handsome team desk with a good wide work area and good looks all around. There are four drawers (two of them lock), and the desk is designed to either go against a wall or be free-standing. It comes knock-down to the Workbench on Route 206 from Scandinavia, and they erect it... which explains the surprisingly modest price of $75.

Some with the "wet" look. Traditional plaid flannels are among the shirts at the Army-Navy Store on Witherspoon Street. They are worth exploring. The store has a great number of good buys in the area of sports and casual wear for men — from the point of view of quality and price. Among the outerwear are sweaters in various weights and classic or new designs. You'll find here the standard wale corduroys, are a scarce item this year. These are in the regular "ivy" cut and in jeans.

The shirts at Army-Navy include the solid color, button-down collar types and the newer styles in stripes and brighter hues of solid color. Drooping in at the University Store, we admired the at-tache cases. The Leathercraft Inc. model is of molded plastic and there is a four-pocket portfolio inside. ($21.50) Then there's a briefcase with the leatherlook, an elegant and simple piece with four compartments and a lock. ($16.50) For a man's desk, the RCA radio clock at the U-Store combines an AM/FM radio with two pens, a manually-operated calendar and a paper dispenser. The cabinet is simulated walnut grain and chrome. The radio has a soft, warm tone. ($54.95)

Here, too, are the very comfortable Jiffy slippers, priced at $4.50 up. Made of corduroy, rough-weave cotton, and so on, the designs vary, but all are nice.

We noticed pajamas in a bewildering variety, from flannel to Dacron and cotton. There are solid colors, tasteful stripes, lateral checks, and good plaids. Sizes range from 8 to D, and D fits a very, very big man. All made by Bels.

Bill's Men's Shop has among its accessories very attractive doerskin gloves with an insert glove. Wear them together, or singly. There is a wide assortment of gloves with fur lining and pile linings, so you're sure to fit your preference. You might consider a gift certificate for the Stetson T-oleen hat — a rich, dark brown beaver with a brim for there; or the coxsack in soft black lambskin. Prices are from $6.59 to $21.

thing new for the school set, and we came across them at Hall's on Nassau Street. They are very attractive suede boots about ankle high, with a deep fringe at the top. There's outer lacing between the soft sole and the upper section. Nice for either boys or girls, the Sioux come in natural suede, forest green, gold or light blue. ($7.99)

The older girls were trying on 1918 front lacing when we were there. There's a two-tone patent with natural suede top and a brown patent foot that looked very up-to-the minute.

Also for the girls, Hush Puppies in knee-high, brown suede boots, with the stylish wrinkle at the ankle. The boot top features a deep band of brown calfskin. ($21) slightly shorter version is $23.

All-weather boots for girls of all ages are made by Sander in a very attractive suede look, with a rubber sole, and a pile lining. ($13.) Maybe Mom needs these for her daily rounds through slush and sleet.

Clark's Wallabees continue to be the choice of the knowing young man. These come with moccasin construction and the wedge crepe sole. In fact, Hall's has them in women's sizes, too. Very comfortable.

The boots selection for boys and men is very extensive, ranging from fringed Indian versions in soft suede to highly burnished calfskins.

And those portable, compact overshoes known as "Toties" will be found at Hall's — from stretch brogues to stretch boots.

When you go into Brophy's at Palmer Square, you'll come across boots with the "man from Marlborough" air, made in Nashville by Wranglers. These are fully lined, with a wide strap across the instep ending at a brass triangle.

Here also are the dynamic Wall Streeter boots in oiled-tanned, water repellent leathers. Some zip, some are pull-ons, most are mid-calf in length. ($39 up) You could solve the boot problem with a gift certificate.

For walking through the snowy streets at Stowe, Brophy's offers the soft, comfortable and very warm Hudson Bay boots with crepe soles. They have the sealskin look, moccasin toes and fleece linings. For men or women ($30) Brophy's also has men's and women's sizes in a waterproof, black nylon hoot, cross-laced, with white trim. Light and attractive.

Among the shoes for men, there's a kind that never needs to be broken in: called "Bag Pipes" by Wall-Streeter, and equipped with red plaid shoe bags as a traveler's aid. The shoes are handsewn loafers in a pebble grain calf that is so flexible you can almost crush it. Very soft, very comfortable; just put them on and go! ($35)

Another popular shoe at Brophy's is Alden's scotch grain with a thick, ridge crepe sole. The toe tip of the sole is leather. An ideal shoe for some one who's on his feet a lot.

The Army-Navy Store on Witherspoon Street has a full line of laced boots well insulated for snow and slush. They come in four different heights from ankle to knee.

There's also a good variety of leather boots — suedes and calfskins — ranging from ankle-high to mid-calf. Styled to emphasize comfort and good leathers.

MUSIC BY CANDLELIGHT
New arrivals at the Princeton Music Center on Palmer Square include the Berliners Troysen, complete, and the re-issue of the Schabel Beethoven albums. The full set is $40, or the albums can be bought separately. There's a lot so a new Tallis and Byrd album.

You may want to explore the wide selection of choral music sung by the choirs of King's College and St. John's College, Cambridge. By way of contrast, try the electronic music records, or the new pop records. Every kind of special taste is catered for.

Princeton Music Center has both the K.L.H. compact stereo systems, which start at about $200, and the full range of Panasonic stereos — there's such a variety that it's no use to quote prices, just go see — and there are tape recorders and players.

We found some Christmas tape recordings for background music — some of the traditional carols, but most are Christmas songs by popular singers. The tape recorders start at $29.95.

Teens' Dreams

Tarot cards to foretell the mysterious future ($3.95 includes instructions), handcrafted costume jewelry—from pierced earrings and ceramic pins to the Cabala thermal copper bracelet. (At Country Mouse, Nassau Street.)

For children, there is a very good, inexpensive record player, at $21.95, and a fine supply of children's records. Stories, songs, and nursery types such as Pook, Babar's Songs, and lots of Disney.

CLUB MEDITERRANEE

The extraordinary Caribbean vacation for people with ordinary budgets.

It doesn't take untold wealth to enjoy a week in the Caribbean. In fact you can do it at Club Mediterranean (Guadeloupe or Martinique) on a very ordinary budget.

And in plenty of style. With every meal prepared by a master French chef: Steak Bernaise, shish kebabs, French bread, big eclair, frites à la Russe, Lobster au Cognac. As many as twenty-five dishes to choose from for lunch and supper. And activities that could cost you as much as $3,000 elsewhere: yoga, judo, deep-sea fishing, sailing, spear-fishing, tennis, volleyball and scuba diving. Including equipment and instruction.

It is an extraordinary vacation. And an ordinary budget shouldn't keep you from enjoying it.

The entire price for one week with no hidden charges or sneaky additions is: Guadeloupe $208
Martinique $322
Including round trip jet air fare from New York

"12/25" Is Crafty

Tucked away in the University Store basement (where you get your radio fixed) is the fresh and pretty "12/25 Christmas Crafts" section, filled with little items from around the world:

A very decorative wooden horse from Japan, with bridle mane and tail, long, beaded necklaces from India; map puzzles of the United States; colored plastic construction games from Italy; wood-carved creches from Austria and elsewhere, and tiny games to fit into a stocking or to use as party favors.

The dollhouse furniture is intriguing. It includes a wooden highboy with 11 drawers that open, a rocker, cradle, several types of beds and a fireplace.

Lots of quaint things for your Christmas tree — including flying white geese, Christmas carols, too, and wooden kites, and musical kaleidoscopes. Even two-inch drums on hanging painted sticks — from Taiwan. Prices range from 65¢ to about $1.50.

It's New To Us

the fabulous Bahar is accompanied by the Paris Conservatoire Orchestra, which falls soothingly on the adult ear. "Peter and the Wolf" is a good one, too, in either of several versions.

The Craig tape recorder that found University Store by storm last Christmas are well worth a looksee this year. The "T Control" cassette recorder is very compact, has a nice tone, and there's an indicator to keep you posted on the battery condition. ($53.95) Buy an adapter if the recorder is most likely to be used at home and save the batteries.

We saw a Crank push button cassette recorder, too, with detachable, hinged speakers ($129.95); and their automatic eight track stereo, with track indicator lights and, again, excellent tone. ($84.95)

The U Store also has the Sony line in color TV with a nine inch or 12-inch screen; the rugged FM AM VHF Wca portable radio, and a very sleek little AM desk clock-radio with a big sound.

The car stereos by Ampex for use with cassette are easy to mount types, with two speakers ($99.95). Other items in the Ampex stereo line are worth considering before you buy. The range goes from portable player recorders at $49.95 to a combination recorder, FM stereo and FM AM radio at $261.95

CHRISTMAS MEANS PARTY

There are all kinds of hat items at Happy House in the Princeton Shopping Center: simple daddies like strainers and "muddlers" up to special silver jiggers and pourers that slip over when they are full to the line. Even novel shapes.

such as a cat. (About $7.58 for the silver items.)

The Irish Waterford Iron-Founders casserole at Happy House come in a creamy — not clinical — white with Ton 2 interiors. The double casserole is really two plans, and a very great buy at $23.

Also among the cooking gear is a big, solid butcher's block legs ($175) and a smaller, rolling cutting board that is much lighter ($55). For professional chopping, the shop has stocked the full Sabatier range, as well as Zanger knives. Among them, by the way, are the Zanger steak knives without serrated edges, so they are good and sharp. ($22 for six, nicely boxed in wood.)

Happy House is stocked in depth in the candle department. Included are the charming kinds that form flowers as they burn. The candles have delicious spicy fragrances, and when lighted should delight several senses at once. Also browse through the jars, stands, and wicks for mounting the candles. Some good ideas for you.

For buffet entertaining, Studio Twelve has two suggestions in the way of equipment for year round use: for the apartment dweller, a kitchen-dining table made with end grain — a black construction, mounted firmly on a central iron stand. This was perhaps originally designed for a bidet carver and general purpose side table. The top is indestructible. ($150).

And then the car, for buffet indoors now and outdoors later, a luxurious piece with a carving top, drawers for linen and cutlery, and space for six prone wine bottles. ($230).

For fans of television's Galloping Gourmet, Studio Twelve has stocked his full line of pots, pans and whatever. Graham Kerr is staging a one-man battle against scorched scampies and deflated soufflés by developing cookware that suits the metal alloy to the cooking purpose.

The ovenware is rolled steel, range ware is cast aluminum with Teflon 2 lining, and there is a choice of color: as the Gallinger describes it, Blueberry, Sun Yellow and Acacia rangeware; Tangerine ovenware.

From Danish silversmiths, softly burnished coffee services in either a modern version of the traditional curvy shape or in the more elongated contemporary style. Figure about $90 for a coffee pot.

Travelers' Portables

A man's size umbrella that telescopes to a mere 14" and, if the wind reverses it, comes right back. Made of black, double-waterproofed nylon (by the manufacturers of Totes) and has a zipped leather case. $15, at Brophy's on Palmer Square.

The handy Steam/Press Valet by Westinghouse creases trousers and touches up wash 'n' wear. Small, with zipped cloth travel bag. $15.99 at the University Store.
Or the compact GE electric steam iron that operates on AC or DC current, a great asset if you're going abroad. (Johnson Electric, Tulane Street.)

And a travel bar, completely fitted for four, with space for a pack of cards or a transistor. Serious black case. ($24.95 at Happy House, Princeton Shopping Center.)

ROAMING THE GIFT LIST

With fine arts and handicraft miscellany in mind, we stopped in at Krosnick Interiors on Olden Avenue, Trenton (close to the intersection of Park side), where we've roamed happily many times before.

We noticed wall clocks suitable for family rooms, others for kitchens, all made in cheerful ignorance of the tiresome old "decorator" colors. The clocks (about $25) have simple, round frames of wood, ceramic faces, and clear numbers.

We found graphics by Picasso, Lautrec and Beardsley reproduced on black mounted white tiles: Picasso's Don Quixote and his peace dove are among them.

There's an enchanting Christmas tree, about 12 inches high, with slender, bending branches bearing silver balls that sway with the lightest breeze or movement. ($7.50). And some satisfyingly large trivets of teak slats — big enough for a turkey platter ($7.50).

The candle collection is quite a delight. Unusual colors, to blend with Christmas greens — lavender-blue, browns, cream, turquoise. And all sorts of shapes — narrow little cones, tapers, carrots. Small mounting boards are available in matching colors at 50¢ each.

Then there are some enameled, free-form poured candles that are cranberry-colored inside, brown crusty outside ($12).

Krosnick has covered cheeseboards, a fact worth noting. All are wood, and the prices range from $6 to $29.50. And also a very considerable variety of wooden bowls and salad sets.

For the Christmas bride, you might consider the Bennington ware — enameled cast iron, some with matching trivets. A white casserole in the four-quart size with a matching trivet is $15 (trivet is extra).

The Christmas show at the Princeton Gallery of Fine Arts, Spring Street, promises to be a very diversified selection of giftables. It opens a bout December 15.

There will be oils and framed graphics including artists from their regular stable, and a group of prints by Richard Anusiewicz. Mark your calendar.

Whimsical sculptures of children and other nostalgic subjects by Malcolm Moran may be found at Studio Twelve. Each piece is an original.

The appeal of the charming little bronze figures is much enhanced by the blending of varied colors and textures of natural minerals, sometimes woods or glass. Moran is widely known by collectors. The price range is $65 to $600.

THE COOK'S DELIGHT

Apothecary jars for the candy and cookies that emerge from your kitchen for Christmas giving can be found at Urkens's Supply on Witherspoon Street. In clear glass with squat tops, 69¢ and 79¢.

And punch bowls with the cut-glass look and a dozen punch glasses ($6.98), as well as all sizes of glasses from wine to highball, made by Libbey in plain or flowered patterns.

To speed up breakfast or Sunday night supper, the Proctor toasters come ready for four slices of bread at once. (Others for two.) $8.88 to $15.88. The deluxe Hamilton Beach mixer with all sorts of speeds and services, comes

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

Louise Maas was unpacking her Christmas goodies when we were in her Palmer Square shop. The candy offering kept getting more attractive, we think.

For fun, a little box of Delft plates in a charming, flat-square box. Of course they are chocolate inside. ($1.25) And English toffees in decorative tins — neapondrop roses, or ye old ladies on horseback. ($5 cents)

Miss Maas recommends the Rebecca Ruth handmade candies which include "Kentucky Colonnade" and rum, or mint-flavored chocolates. There is a complete line of Droste chocolates from Holland, including the liquor cherries in a pretty box designed to be hung from the tree. ($1.25)

Crystallized fruit from Chris to Poules comes in an attractive, round tin, with a pine apple slice in the center and other tempting items around it. ($2.70) A larger selection with a section of nuts in the middle is ($3.60) — all so particularly festive and Christmassy.

For your hostess, or for a stocking, Louise Maas has such a selection in such a variety of prices, that we can only say, go browse.

More goodies at Bon Appetit in the Princeton Shopping Center (where we have yet to find even a small wedge of processed cheese).

Very festive Italian cherries in brandy — packed in thin round bottles that show the appealing contents to full advantage. For the epicure you know ($1.98, $4.95). And Irish whiskey fruit cakes, packed in tins. ($2.50). Just marvelously delicious.

Bon Appetit has two pretty packs (from Palau) of Veronapandora biscuits in a handsome, lantern-shaped box, and the popular strong pound cake. (49 cents to $4.45) Something new to us are the baked figs with almonds, packed in Naples in a chip basket with a matching lid. ($1.25 for a pound.)

You'll also find here the justly famous Trappist products: fudge in various varieties, butter nut crunch, wine jellies and preserves. There are also some Scottish jams and mar malade in tartan packs. Such lovely gifts for weekend hosts and to shut us with jaded appetites.

And at David-on's Super market on Nassau Street, you have a chance to make up fruit gifts from such exotic offerings as papayas, mangoes, the kiwi fruit from New Zealand, an incredible cross between the strapfruit, orange and tangerine. —Continued On Page 24

"A Scientific Farce."

To the Editor of Town Topics:

On its November 13 front page The Tower: the Student Newspaper of Princeton High School described the new plan to make Wednesdays the high school even more "flexible."

The program, which began on November 18, reduces the 35 minute morning periods to 30 minutes (They have actually been shortened to 28 minutes), and deletes one period entirely, on a rotating basis. The 45 minutes gained comprise an activities period in which students pursue their own interests.

The Tower article indicated that participation will determine the permanence of the program: poor participation, discontinuance of the program. But on Tuesday, the day before the program began, all students were given a list of activities and asked to indicate the one they would attend. And since the new activities period started the next day, complete participation seemed assured.

The Wednesday afternoon program reduced class periods from 45 to 33 minutes to allow

NOTICE

Letters to TOWN TOPICS "Mailbox" should be typed, double-spaced, signed and received for publication no later than Monday. No letter will be printed without a valid signature and address. Letters longer than 500 words may be edited or omitted entirely, at the discretion of the editor. Letters on subjects not specifically related to Princeton may also be rejected.

Students and faculty an afternoon of meaningful, relevant activities. The further sacrifice of five minutes from each period makes every Wednesday even richer in meaningful relevance, but a complete farce. Let's hope the colleges and future employers of our children are willing to accept meaningful activities in lieu of academic and vocational achievement.

To the Editor of Town Topics: The Princeton High School "Tower" apologizes for its in attendance at the Long Range Planning Commission's press conference. We feel it's necessary after the TOPICS made such a point of noting our absence in light of the underground "Dungeon" profession of press coverage.

We were busily engaged in the sundry process of planning a school newspaper touching all segments of the PHS assembly, and our faculty advisor decided our invitations' arrival several hours prior to the conference was an indication of its importance. She simply pocketed it. None of the student editors ever saw the invitation.

There were no reporters to send, since the "Tower" is written, objectively and with journalistic principles, by its editors. Objectivity is as popular to our fellow dwellers in the Snake Pit as Sea and Ski is to the Congo.

As there are so few of us, the "Tower" has been accused of vapidness. As we're sanctioned, we've been accused of genuflecting to the gods. We do neither.

We have our opinions. We do what we can with what we have in the time and budget boundaries allotted. Just like any other paper.

It would be so very easy, far to produce a "Dungeon." To simply print the opinions, distortions, lies, half-truths, bias, conjecture, and allegations of anyone attaching his name to an article.

To have a dedication of principles consisting of no journalistic principles. To sell an opinion sounding board rather than distribute a newspaper free to all students. 'Tis a consummation devoutly to be wished.

We realize its nature allows the "Dungeon" to be more provocative. Therefore, despite our chagrin and crimson indignation, we understand and appreciate the Princeton news media's marriage to the "Dungeon."

But we crave a boon. Despite our integrity; despite our objectivity; despite our factual accuracy; could you under the influence of a full moon please give us an even break?

JIM BUFKIN

Credit Where It's Due.

To the Editor of Town Topics: All of us working on "Christmas in Vietnam" are concerned that there was no mention of Mrs. Sydney G. Stevens in your article (TOWN TOPICS, November 10). I particularly spoke of her several times as there could be no gift program without her.

From the beginning, Mrs. Stevens has cared and given all too generously of her time, her hands and her heart. She has done most of the behind-the-scenes work which has made possible thousands of gifts for the men in Vietnam. Their gratitude was expressed in a special letter of commendation to Mrs. Stevens from Gen. Lewis W. Walt, Assistant Commandant of the Marine Corps.

Mrs. Stevens' great share in "Christmas in Vietnam" is one of which the Princeton community should be very proud. All of us who work with her are.

More Taxes Needed.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I was very surprised to find that the Nat'l Taxi Company is no longer in operation. I used their taxis quite often and can say I felt the service was very good.

I for one would like to see another company open up or the Nat'l Taxi Company. I believe we need another taxi company in Princeton. There are a lot of people who use and need taxis.

A "Shameful Situation."

To the Editor of Town Topics:
The fact that in the midst of an affluent community, peopled with citizens of sound and higher than average intelligence, there is a mental hospital that cannot meet accepted standards because of lack of funds, would be incongruous were it not appalling. Short of a private clinic and the enormous State Hospital in Trenton, N.J.N.P.I. is the only institution in this area capable of mounting a full scale attack on mental illness and conducting a constant search for causes and cures.

The notion that hospitals (and particularly mental hospitals) supported partially or wholly by State or other governmental funds, should be subject to the vagaries of politics and must entreat legislators to bank their way, is abhorrent. The spectacle of professional people purchasing pennies and grubbing for funds for the salvation and rehabilitation of human minds is a sorry manifestation of the age of enlightenment in which we flatter ourselves that we live.

Instead of being low man on the totem pole, N.J.N.P.I.

ought to be the finest and most effective institution of its kind in the state. Certainly the potential is there. The miracle is that it has been able to accomplish so much even on its pitiful budget allotments. One wonders how much State money is spent on "dead wood" while this important facility eries out for even its minimal needs.

A massive campaign needs to be launched to correct this shameful situation.

Another Rebuttal Offered

To the Editor of Town Topics:
Latter grading, they say, is absolute, but were it not, I'd give Thomas and Donna Edgars a D minus for their rebuttal to Barry Nathan on student voting, a rebuttal smacking more of a political science position paper than reasonable discussion of the issue.

In point No. 1, the Edgars tell us that any registered voter should be encouraged to vote, and deserve credit for this penetrating and profound observation.

In point No. 2, the argument that graduate students "would easily receive five times as much money if they did graduate work within a corporation" is invalid. Corporate salaries are based on output, whereas educational stipends are input for the benefit of the graduate input the granular hopes sometimes optimistically I fear, will benefit all society.

In point No. 3, the question of whether Mr. Nathan sur-

Thanks from Japan.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

It was delightful to hear that you kindly found the kids, Danny and Susan Cowen (TOWN TOPICS, November 12) and handed my picture to them. I had not expected the kids could be found so soon. I believe this fact indicates how popular TOWN TOPICS is among the people in Princeton. I appreciate your kind treatment from the bottom of my mind.

TOSHIO TAGAKI
Osaru-shi, Hokkaido

passed the "moral certitude and intellectual arrogance" of those he attacks is barely answered by tying the same label to Mr. Nathan himself, and if Nathan's remarks about "pernicious decisions and policies" are absurd, as the Edgars tell us in No. 5, why not expose their absurdity instead of just saying they are?

Mr. Edgar's analogy (the "we" has now become "I") that if Princeton shares in the University's decision making, Detroit citizens all deserve a share of stock in General Motors, bears no relation to Mr. Nathan's overriding point, which is why shouldn't a college community have a voice in the affairs of its university? If for one moment rather than listening to ex cathedra judgments by members of my generation, who often thanks to others' hard work, have yet to make that declaration those now earning a living made years before, i.e. that they are ready to start contributing to American society in return for the years during which they have freely partaken of its benefits.

I am tired of hearing grave political pronouncements being made with cliches from David Brinkley's in-depth analyses or Professor Whoois' civics class. I respectfully suggest that those who have thus far failed to make their declaration of willingness to contribute, rather than take from this society, be less vociferous in their condemnations of it.

If Mr. Nathan's rhetoric was a manifestation of like views, however he expressed himself, "intellectual arrogance," "yes and "effete snobishness" are charitable descriptions. While Nathan's "Agnewistic harangue" was unfortunate, the Larry O'Brienish retort of the Edgars was disastrous. But I comfort myself with the possibility that such knowledgeable men soon proclaim that they are on strike again on the University lecture-

Thank you for having the presence of mind to print Mr. Stoll's letter, which was a reasonable, responsible and civilized rejoinder.

RICHARD M. LANGWORTH
20 Hart Avenue, Hopewell

Mr. Nathan Replies.

To the Editor of Town Topics: TOWN TOPICS (19 November) printed three replies to my letter bearing on student participation in local elections. Two score only the most modest number of brownie points; indeed they lend more credence than one should like to the observation that "the only perceptible result of mass higher education has been that the scribbling on John walls is several inches higher than before."

Mr. Stoll's letter deserves better. After all, a correspondent who speaks of my "considerable aptitude" for Swiftian rhetoric can't be all bad!

I, I am by no means displeased with the results of the election; I should have been equally contemptuous had Republicans been in like circumstances. A conservative, I vote for such candidates regardless of party affiliation; losing is old hat in these quarters.

The issue is not that of "disqualifying legally-qualified voters" but of deciding what shall be the qualifications demanded for such registration. A different cup of tea.

2. No torch is alight here in behalf of a certain "political phenomena"; it is my conviction that the Vice President is wide of the mark and its conspicuously deficient in understanding the gravity and ubiquity of the threat posed to these United States by left ideologues of the intellectual establishment. At a Kremlin reception in the 1930's, Lady (Nancy) Astor turned to Stalin and asked, "When are you going to stop murdering people?" The lady understood that grave circumstances require plain speaking. I merely cite this here in light of the utterances of the voices of moderation in (say) the 1964 presidential election . . .

3. I made no reference by name to any candidate or party. Nor was it suggested that a particular victor's election was "imposed" on the community or that his election was a "pernicious decision." The specific reference was to the appropriateness of seeking votes from students and to the appalling moral and intellectual posture of these students. Obviously, students have a stake in the well of the Princeton community and in the amelioration of the commu-

ity is at least possible to make a case to the effect that those individuals unlikely to bear their full share of the "costs" of "solutions" thereto (such "costs" being — incidentally — often unforeseeable) should not participate in these decisions. (The Vietnam should have fun with that argument — being that profundity is not one of their conspicuous traits.)

4. I am not the beginning nor end of human wisdom; the virtual was intended to draw blood and to call attention to a problem that might otherwise be drawn in the prevailing propensity for a sea of amiable treacle. Divisive, perhaps, but I can imagine nothing more dull, even decending than a community consisting solely of people of like mind: dissension, like adversity, has its uses. I should not like to be thought unworthy of the community and even should like to think that Mr. Stoll might find me (let's say) an amiable, witty, interesting luncheon companion. After all, a writer with "considerable aptitude" for Swiftian rhetoric can't be all bad, either!

More about District Three.

To the Editor of TOWN TOPICS: Come on now, TOWN TOPICS, don't try to duck a charge of mistaken labelling by turning to outright falsification, as you did in the editor's note appended to our letter last week. We took exception, you will recall, to your November 5, page one story reporting the results of the Township election. You replied: "The story did not say or imply that the District consists solely of the Butler tract, because that isn't the case."

Perhaps you really believe this Catch 22 like rationale, i.e., since Butler Project is not in fact all of District Three, you couldn't possibly have said it was! Or perhaps you didn't bother to reread your own story before writing the note. Suspecting the latter to be the case (it fits with our charge of irresponsibility), we — Continued on Next Page

ROSES and RHUBARB

BY DON ALLEN

The Family Line...

As a kid, I was always coming home soaking wet. Winter, summer — no matter. I'd either fall through the ice, or slip off a mossy tree that had fallen across a creek. For variety in the winter I'd coast down the "Big Dipper" into Holcomb's meadow, right off the stream embankment and into the tank. It was a very discouraging child to raise.

There is a homey saying that the apple doesn't fall far from the tree. What was the old timer's explanation for family traits. From a story my dad relates of his boyhood days in Hopewell, I can see that being clumsy comes easy to us Alens.

There used to be an active Tomato Canning Factory on Railroad Avenue. (Today, by the way, it is the home of some attractive shops.) In season, they dumped their waste into a meandering brook that coursed through a meadow right here in town. That meadow has since been filled in, and the stream flumed where the Princeton Bank & Trust is now erecting their magnificent new bank. Anyday, Dad, dressed for Sunday School, went to explore his favorite brook. Then polluted it with east off tomato skins, tomato juice and tomato seeds.

"The whole place stunk," he recalls just before he fell into the brook. Well that could happen to anybody — his mother understood that. But not Dad. In fresh clothes, he went back to see just how it was he could slip and fall into that brook. "The whole place stunk," he recalls just before he fell in the second time.

Now, if this was too much for his Mother, it was certainly too much for Dad. Again in clean clothes, but with great caution, he ventured back once more. The better to understand his misfortune. Well, you guessed it. "The whole place stunk," says Dad, just before he went under for the third time.

IT'S BEGINNING TO LOOK A LOT LIKE CHRISTMAS. Daily now, we will be building up our display of Christmas goodies. We are holding off on fresh greens until it gets colder. However, it's not so soon to compile your list of distant friends you would like to remember with flowers for the holiday. Early F.T.D. orders can be mailed, saving you forwarding charges.

The Chamber Singers, directed by Arthur Singers, is a select group of 22 Westminster Union classmen who specialize in Renaissance, Baroque and contemporary literature.

DRUG FILMS PLANNED
For Continuous Showing
The Princeton Public Library will present a group of six drug films in an all-day free program of continuous showings at 9, 11, 1, 3, 5 and 7:30.

The films include "A Day in the Death of Danny B," a young Hamilton drug addict, filmed on location; "Drugs and the Nervous System" which shows how drugs may destroy the nervous system; "The Seekers," several young people mostly ex-addicts discuss their experiences with drug addiction and why they turned to drugs.

Speeches on "The Problem of Amphetamine Abuse" present evidence against the use of amphetamines while focusing on one type of which is called "speed." "Why Must the Flowers Die?" depicts two adolescent boys turned on by glue sniffing, one of which goes further and dies from an overdose of gonorrhea (delegating pills) and "Your Amazing Mind" which reviews the inordinance of man's brain power in the progress of evolution and the effects of drugs on the human brain.

The Educational Film Leagues Association (EFLA) sponsor of the annual American Film Festival, recently made the above films, among others, which best portray aspects of the drug issue.

The community's service organizations, church and school groups as well as interested citizens are invited to attend. The intended audience is eighth grade through adult.

SEN. JAVITS TO SPEAK
At Woodrow Wilson School
The Hon. Jacob K. Javits, U.S. Senator from New York, will deliver a public lecture at Princeton University on Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. in Woodrow Wilson auditorium.

Senator Javits will speak on the topic, "The New Isolationism and What to Do About It." His lecture is sponsored by the University's Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs.

REGISTER NOW
To Vote in School Elections

The League of Women Voters reminds residents that if they are not presently registered to vote in regular municipal elections, they are not eligible to vote in school elections.

New voters may register at their municipal building weekdays from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. from now until Thursday, Dec. 10.

FAIRWELL TO THE CHIEF: A dinner-dance will be held December 17 at the Princeton Country Club for Chief James R. Campbell Jr., who is retiring at the end of the year after 31 years of service with the Township police. There is still time to make reservations at Township police headquarters, according to Detective Norman Servino. Tickets are $8 per person.

December 21, in order to vote in Princeton elections on February 2.

Prospective voters are urged to register early and to remember that the municipal buildings will be closed for half day on Christmas Eve.

The League of Women Voters reminds citizens who will be 18 years old on or before November 2, 1971, of their opportunity to register. If the Supreme Court upholds the amendment to the Voting Rights Act, those who have registered before the deadline, and are 18 years old on or before the school election date may vote. The Supreme Court has until January 1, 1971 to make its ruling.

West Windsor and Plainsboro voters will also be voting in a school election on February 2 and must be registered by Thursday, December 24, if not previously registered.

New voters in Montgomery Township and Rocky Hill Borough must be registered by Thursday, January 1, to be

SCHOOLS MEET TOWN
Regular Meetings Planned.
Closers, or at least more official, cooperation between Princeton's schools and Princeton's governments will follow a meeting held last Monday between Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley, Township Mayor John D. Wallace, the two governing bodies and the Board of Education.

Such meetings will be held three or four times a year, said Mayor Cawley. Agendas will include the school budget, the need for salary conferences on jobs common to both the school system and municipal administrations, development of joint purchasing to save money and consideration of recommendations to the state's tax policy commission on how to finance public school systems.

WHO PAYS WHAT?
For Regional Sewer? What does "equitable" mean? If big towns pay most of the costs for the Stony Brook regional sewer system, what's going to happen in the future when towns that are small now, are very large indeed? That's the block at the moment in the regional sewerage system. It may delay construction, warns Foster Jacobs, chairman of the Stony Brook Regional Sewerage Group, so that the Group loses its "place in line for state and Federal funds."

The Group met last week and scheduled another meeting for Wednesday, December 16.

Mr. Jacobs also told the group that if its six constituent municipalities can't form their own regional authority, the state may step in with a state-run regional authority. The six towns in the Group are both Princetons, both Hopewells, West Windsor and Pennington. South Brunswick may be a customer of the authority, if it does not actually join.

BUBBLE DORM PROPOSED
By Student Housing Co-Op.
Initial plans for an inflated polyester dormitory on the Princeton campus at Faculty and Washington Roads were outlined Monday by the Student Housing Cooperative, a group organized last spring. The proposed translucent bubble, which measures 240 feet by 100 feet by more than 40 feet high, would house 55 to 60 students and allied faculty. Because of its innovative character, the bubble dorm would also provide a basis for sociological research on the effects of an environment that provides free-will change of interior design, according to the SHC.

Cost of the bubble is estimated to be $250,000; the research program is tagged at $100,000. The proposal was drawn up by Gustav Escher and John Ringel, third-year graduate students in architecture and urban planning. They were commissioned five months ago by the SHC with a grant of $12,500 from the Education Facilities Laboratory.

Residents would enter the air-inflated bubble through a revolving door. Dead ahead would be a profusely planted area of trees and greens. Beyond, and up a flight of steps, is a large carpeted area, 100 feet by 240 feet in size, called the "public" area, offering various flexible arrangements for recreational activities, concerts and medium-sized assemblies. Movable sub-bubbles, called "seminar modules" are also located in the public area as well as eating, studying and lounging sections.

As a barrier between the public and private areas, the plans call for a long, one-story construction which runs from one side of the bubble to the other. It houses kitchens, public bathrooms and utilities.

To the rear is a large, open area where a random arrangement of sleeping modules is located. There is a fixed core of bathrooms, saunas, laundry rooms and deep sinks at the center.

"Thus," the 36-page prospectus states, "the arriving inhabitant chooses his area, places his sleeping module over one of the electrical outlets, and is plugged in. The inflexible position arrangements allow each person a wide range of choice. . . . Furniture, modules and accessories are to be lightweight, and arranged by the users."

The SHC bubble dorm is a project entirely backed by students and independent of the university at present. It is planned as a flexible answer to the University's shortage of housing funds.

After the final plans of the facility are drawn, the SHC

Wallets and ties and sweaters are fairly traditional and inescapable at Christmas. But before you indulge, how about a coin carrier for the dash board of his car. There's a key to keep the kids out of it ($10.95). Or a leather die (the plural is dice) big enough to hold four packs of cards. In black, with gold stamped dots.

Or a beer can cooler for your sports fan and camper to use. It holds an unpacked six-pack, plus ice. Insulated, circular in shape, with a signed green canvas exterior. $10. Of course, it doesn't have to hold beer.

All of the three above items can be found at Happy House in the Princeton Shopping Center.

Viking Furniture offers a nearly mesmerizing table lamp the effect you may not achieve the effect you want. Imagine starbursts in constantly changing patterns and colors, contained in a ten-inch square box, lighted by a single interior bulb. Made by Electro-optics.

Also at Viking are stunning alabaster bookends in irregular layers of color ranging from white to pale gray and yellow.

An extra challenge (252 pieces) for age six on. ($3) All by Creative Playthings, all at Zander's.

oral Electric, Nordman and Reclatone are in supply at Tiger Auto on Witherspoon Street. There are sleek, slim combinations with AM, FM radios. ($36 to $50). Tiger also carries the Burgess "safari light" that uses a long fluorescent tube, and a power-miser arrangement on the battery. A wide, and powerful beam, suitable for camp, boats, trailers, patios . . . and very safe. ($33.95)

And then there's Raleigh's new home exerciser, called the "Shape-Mate," that folds for easy, self standing storage into two square feet of space. It's a lot simpler than pedaling Witherspoon Street on the up grade. At Tiger Auto.

Going over to Princeton Clothing, across from Tiger Auto on Witherspoon, we succumbed to the new Cricketer blazer in wide stripes of navy and wine. The wool flannel is lightweight and very soft, and is cut in true blazer style. For the swinger you know.

The Cricketer also comes in a dark green and brown stripes version, or in more conservative solids — camel and gray — ready to be dressed up with gorgeous color schemes in shirt and tie. ($50).

If you have to settle for shirts, Princeton Clothing advises you to be bold. If your target is young or young in heart, The Arrow traditionals of polyester and cotton have woven stripes ($8); as well as spots, checks and prints that are either modest or vivid. How about broad stripes in soft green and blue, with a suggestion of orange and yellow? Permanent press, of course.

The Rooster brand ties at Princeton Clothing are pure fun. The colors are satisfying. New at the moment are the wide, straight-cut styles that show off the dictionary prints. These range from an oculist's test card through laboratory formulae to Greek archaeology. These fascinating details only appear on close scrutiny.

HOME AND HEARTH

Bowden's Fireplace Shop, at 1131 Nottingham Way in Trenton, can give your house a very hospitable look.

Gas logs, for instance, that look like a true log fire and throw out a terrific heat as well, are a thoughtful gift for the household where the folk are past the age for humping logs and raking ashes. You can buy the whole unit: logs, burner, grate and log rests at Bowden's. Prices start at $58.

A sandbox to help cope with the fensions of the day: a 12-inch square box edged in walnut to match the desk and paneled walls, and filled with pure white sand. There's a slim, varnished rake for doodling designs while thinking great thoughts. ($10, at Viking Furniture, Nassau Street).

Or a Jostlyk — made of a string of blocks that can be twisted into all kinds of shapes. The design is firm until you bend it again. ($4, at Studio Twelve, Montgomery Shopping Center.)

And then there's the pacer's delight — a pedometer — from Tiger Auto (Witherspoon Street) — and maybe a desk-top game of skill: a pendulum ring suspended from a silvery arc swings and sometimes reaches a catching hook. Beautiful, sculptured piece, mounted on a black base. ($8, at Viking, again.)

Or, if you love a real fire, there are bellows to blow it up. Choose from various colors with brass and leather trim ($6.95 up); and hearth brooms in red, green or rust (about $3), and packs of crystals that produce colored flames ($1 & $1.49).

Just inside Bowden's front door is a magnificent log holder — a 30-gallon sugar kettle, some 26 inches in diameter, round in shape and equipped with feet. Caution, it weighs 150 pounds. ($54).

Other log holders include scrolled wrought iron ($56); a bench shape, or a simple, sleek loop design ($11.95).

Going out to Rosemont to the Cane Farm is well worth your while if you like well-crafted, solid designs in your furniture. It is located, to be exact, on Route 519 about a mile and a half north of Stockton. Especially likeable are the Windsor chairs. There's a fan back ($70); very pretty and comfortable little rocker ($85), and a number of other shapes — all of which would have uses all over the place. They are an excellent value compared with factory-made chairs. All are hand-crafted by a New England couple, and we hope they live forever.

Cane Farm also has a group of copper lamps made especially for them. These are simple, handsome designs meant mainly for outdoor use, and sturdy enough to last through many winters ($37-$100).

We liked the natural-form coffee tables in smooth slices of walnut. The wood is well chosen, with intriguing grain and knotholes. The tables are heavy and steady, and they are priced according to size. The five footer was $110, a smaller one, $70.

For The Executive Suite

A rather unusual piece is the high-backed settee. It's original purpose was for fire-side warmth, and you'll see the original of the piece in the Metropolitan Museum, dated somewhere in the late 1600's. ($125).

There's also a strong, stable and handsome step stool, for Father to use in the library. Three steps high, $21. Cane Farm, by the way, of fern custom finishing in the stain of your choice. They will produce variations on their basic designs to your order.

What's New in Bikes?

It's the portable, collapsible, highly convenient and very slick-looking Raleigh model known as "The Folder." It cuts to nearly half its normal size with the flick of a lever. Great for boaters, campers and apartment dwellers.

For high stylized dragster kids, think Raleigh's "Chopper," a three-to-two speed contraption with a small front wheel, geared for fast starts and easy pedaling. There's a buck-rat saddle, a chrome roller bar and antler handlebars. Check in at Tiger Auto and see them.

The Shakers, Quakers, and Pilgrims are alive and well at Cane Farm

"Less is more" said the 1930 modernists. "Amen", came the centuries-old answer of our earliest settlers. Their search for simplicity and truth gave us some of the finest examples of American design and craftsmanship. You can see — and buy — numerous — quality re-creations of these fine pieces at Cane Farm Furniture.

For Example:

Sturdy little Shaker tripod table. Great for snackers, readers, smokers.

News Of The THEATRES

COST OF 125: COUNT 'EM
(From "Piscataway")
"Mame," the annual P.J.B. musical due at McCarter for four performances starting Thursday, December 10, will have a cast of 125, including a few from Piscataway.

Somerville, Edison and Monmouth Junction are also represented, and even Princeton just to give credibility to P.J.B.'s full name, "Princeton Junction and Back."

Besides Thursday night, "Mame" will be on view at McCarter Friday and Saturday nights and Saturday afternoon, and Sunday afternoon.

As usual in these P.J.B. musicals, the cast is drawn from what theatre people like to call "all walks of life." This means stockbrokers and housewives, male and female University undergraduates (and graduate students), high school students and a variety of ages.

Bill Mikulewicz, the resident designer for McCarter's drama repertory series, is working on a series of transformations for McCarter's stage, as Mame redecorates her Beckman Place apartment in a wild array of periods and styles.

Ken Billington, lighting man, has worked on lighting for 14 (fourteen) productions of "Mame," ranging from Las Vegas in London, Joan MarCUS is doing the choreography and doubling as Vera Charles, "Mame's" best friend. The musical includes the famous title song, plus "Open A New Window," "It's Today," and "That's How Young I Feel."

REAL SNOWFLAKES?
"Nutcracker" Promises. Just how McCarter's designer Stephen Hendrickson plans to come through with a promise of real snowflakes for the theatre's production of "The Nutcracker," nobody is saying. The hint is there, however: buy a ticket and see the snowflakes for yourself.

Princeton's traditional Christmas performances of Tchaikovsky's well-loved ballet will be given in McCarter on Saturday and Sunday, December 19 and 20. Matinees have been scheduled for both days and are almost sold out. The single evening performance on Saturday night still offers seats, the box office says.

In addition, the Princeton Regional Ballet's production, with the theatre, of "The Nutcracker," is offering two matinee performances on Friday, December 18, for school children throughout New Jersey. Both these performances are sold out.

"The Nutcracker," as danced annually in Princeton, consists of two acts. Choreography for Act I is by Audree Estey, director of the Princeton Regional Ballet company. Act II choreography is by Lila Popper Brunner, who is company ballet mistress.

It is Act II that has all the sugar plum goodies that go into making "The Nutcracker Suite," including the "Waltz of the Flowers," the "Dance of the Sugar Plum Fairy" and the "Trepak."

THOUGHTS OF SPRING
At McCarter, Spring at McCarter Theatre will arrive in February 12, with the world premiere of Theodore H. White's play, "Caesar at the Rubicon."

Repertory, of course, won't actually be suspended until the 1971-72 season. The spring hall of 1970-71 will include not only Mr. White's play — his first — but such involvements as "The Importance of Being Earnest," "The Homecoming" and "Little Murders."

Mr. White is the man who writes about the makings of Presidents, and McCarter staff members who have been in Princeton with him recently report that "he brings history to life, even in conversation."

McCarter plans special performances of "Machbeth" for school children in February, and is now casting for both "Machbeth" and "Caesar at the Rubicon."

"HAMLET"
By Oxford, Cambridge. The New Year will open at McCarter on Tuesday, January 5, at 8:30 with a performance of "Hamlet" by the touring members of the Oxford & Cambridge Shakespeare Company. This will be the third tour of American college campuses for the student performers. There are 30 of them, drawn from the graduate and undergraduate members of both Cambridge and Oxford. Jonathan Miller, one of the original "Beyond the Fringe" fours, has directed the troupe. Continued On Next Page let." According to London reviews, his approach is "dry, cool and thoughtful" and the result is a production which strips away the layers of acquired tradition and treats the play as if it were a newly mined text."

"CACTUS FLOWER" SET
By Pennington Players. The Pennington Players will return to their old home, the Play Barn on West Franklin Avenue, Pennington, for their fall production, "Cactus Flower." The hit comedy will be presented this Friday and Saturday and next at 8:30 p.m., ending five years of wandering about performing in school auditoriums and public halls for the Players.

The play stars WBCB radio personality Charles Brown as the bachelor dentist. Mr. Brown was praised by arccritics for his masterful portrayal of Don Quixote in "Man of La Mancha" at Washington Crossing Open Air Theatre. Co-starring with him is Jean Delgado, who was recently featured in the World Premiere of Henry Beechold's play, "Third Act."

Lalor Cudley is featured as the doctor's girl friend, the part made famous in the film version by Goldie Hawn. Miss Cudley has appeared at Theatre Intime in Princeton and co-starred in the Pennington

"WUSA," the Woodward-Newman political film now at the Plushouse, features Anthony Perkins as the idealistic liberal and a cameo appearance by Laurence Harvey in the role of a fraught minister.

Players production of "Bar-foot in the Park."

The boy next door is played by Daniel Holland who was seen this summer as Horatio in Shakespeare 70's production of Hamlet. Bounding out the cast are Ray Howe, vice president of the Pennington Players; George Kalitkas, who co-starred as Sancha in "Man of La Mancha"; Sandra Jefferson, who appeared in "Third Act"
and "The Sound of Music"; Melchior Crook, a museum lecturer, who has studied at Stratford-on-Avon in England.

Ray Durazo, vice president of the Princeton Community Players will direct. Gerald R.
Guarneri is in charge of design and will co-produce the venture with Michael Salva-tore Jr.

PLAYHOUSE & BRUNSWICK

WUSA (now playing) has a message. It seeks to strike a wallow against the danger of a neo fascist movement in this country. The title is the calli-cations of a fictional radio station in New Orleans.

WUSA is managed by an ultra conservative, played by Pat Hingle, and the cynical disc jockey who works for him is none other than Paul Newman. Joanne Woodward comes on as the sad eyed wall from the streets who becomes the d.j.'s mistress. They become involved with a neurotic ideal-ist played by Anthony Perkins who unknowingly is the pawn of corrupt politicians.

The big action scene is the huge rally staged by "white powers" advocates which turns into a riot involving blacks.

"WUSA" was filmed in color in New Orleans under the direction of Stuart Rosenberg, who made "Cool Hand Luke."

GARDEN and ERIC

Lovers and Other Strangers
(now playing) is a very funny movie, spiced with outrageous dialogue, situations, characters and bright young talent.

It concerns a young couple who are about to get married after living together for 18 months, and their respective families, zeroing in on various members before, during and immediately after the wedding.

Cy Howard, originator of the
"My Friend Irma" series, proves an imaginative director of comedy. The 13 principals come from all fields of entertainment, most of whom are not especially known to film audiences. But Arthur Rouine Bedelia, Michael Brandon, Bob Dishy, Cloris Leach-man and Gie Young are among the names.

PRINCE

Five Easy Pieces (now playing) stars Jack Nicholson, the personable and sensitive actor who stole "Easy Rider" from its two stars with his brilliant playing of the minor role of the alcoholic young lawyer. He sustains his characterization in this film with the same intelligently and range.

He's introduced as an oil field worker, apparently adjusted to a life of manual labor, howling, poker games and a hot romance with a waitress.
It is soon revealed that he is an outsider, a refugee from a career as a concert pianist.

The core of the film is concerned with his tentative home, where his family, all musicians, live on an island off the coast of Washington state. Nicholson's performance is fine.
Equally commendable are Karen Black as the crude and pathetic waitress sweetheart;
Susan Anspach as the pianist girl friend of Nicholson's brother; Ralph Waite as the brother; Helene Kalihonites, the frank hitch hiker who is fleeing to Alaska to escape political air in America; in fact, the entire cast is rich in excellent performances.

"Five Easy Pieces" was the major U.S. entry in the New York Film Festival. It was photographed in color by Laz-lo Kovacs of "Easy Rider" fame. The country western score neatly contrasts with selections from Bach, Mozart and Chopin. Bob Rafelson, author of the original story, directed.

MUSIC In Princeton

ADVENT CONCERT SUNDAY
At St. Andrew's. The first special celebration of the Advent season at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church will be an Advent Concert to be presented Sunday at 7:30 p.m.

The major works of the program are two works for soprano solo. Evelyn Bloom will sing Scarlati's "Cantata Pastorale" and Jean Thomas will sing a recently discovered "Cantilena pro Adventu" by Haydn. Both singers will be accompanied by Thomas McBeth, organist at St. Andrew's.

Another feature of the program will be various instrumental pieces of the Baroque period played by the Concerto Antico from Calvary Lutheran Church in Cranford. This group specializes in early music played on instruments of the period. Instruments to be used on this program include violin, recorders, krumphorn, Baroque trumpet and organ.

The group will play, with various combinations of instruments, several settings of early Christmas carols, three sinfonias of the period, and a sonata for trumpet and organ by Purcell. The director of Concerto Antico is Charles Frischmann, organist of Calvary Church.

Two Noels by Daquin, played by Mr. McBeth, will complete the program. There is no admission charge.

BURTIS IN RECITAL

At Lawrenceville School. On Sunday afternoon, at 4:00 p.m., the Monmouth Chapter of the American Guild of Organists in cooperation with the Lawrenceville School will present Herbert Burtis in an organ recital in the Edith Memorial Chapel on the Lawrenceville campus.

In his program Mr. Burtis will play the Prelude and Fugue in B Minor by Johann Sebastian Bach, the Sonata No. 6 (Vater Unser in Himmelreich) by Felix Mendelssohn, and several movements of La Nativite by Olivier Messiaen.

Mr. Burtis has recently returned from a European recital tour which included appearances in Haderslev and Copenhagen, Denmark, Berlin and Hamburg, Germany, and in Vienna, Austria. Mr. Burtis made a tour of historic French organs in Alsace during his stay abroad. He has been heard throughout the United States as an organ and duo-piano recitalist and has taught and played recitals in the West Indies and Europe.

Mr. Burtis has twice played the complete organ works of Johann Sebastian Bach, first in the United Methodist Church of Red Bank, where he is in his 13th year as Minister of Music and Fine Arts, and later at Columbia University at St. Paul's Chapel. He has also twice played the complete organ works of Cesar Franck, in Red Bank and at St. Thomas Church, Fifth Avenue, New York City. Mr. Burtis has had the honor of playing before Her Royal Highness, Queen Mother Elizabeth of England.

This recital marks Mr. Burtis's only New Jersey organ recital appearance prior to his departure later in December to the 41 members of his Youth Choir for a 10-day concert tour of the West Indies.

MESSIAH TO BE SUNG

By Westminster Choir. Some 100 members of the 230-voice Westminster Symphonic Choir will give two performances of Handel's Messiah in Washington, D. C. on Saturday, December 10, and Sunday, December 11 in Constitution Hall with the Washington Symphony conducted by Paul Callaway.

Well known in the Washington area, Mr. Callaway is the Organist and Choirmaster at Washington Cathedral. He is also conductor of the 200-voice Washington Cathedral Choral Society and a conductor of the Washington Opera Society. For many years he was also Director of Choral Activities at the Tanglewood Music Festival.

The Saturday performance will be at 8:00 p.m., while the one on Sunday will be at 3:00 p.m. in the afternoon. Tickets are available through Campbell's Music Store, 1300 G. Street, Washington, D. C.

WINTER CONCERT SET

By High School. Princeton High School Vocal and Instrumental Music Department will present the annual Winter Concert at 8 p.m. Monday, December 21, in the Princeton University Chapel.

The orchestra, two wind ensembles, and six choirs will participate in the program—some 350 students in all will be involved.

The instrumental music will be conducted by Sylvan Friedman and Jack Warner. Nancy Anne Parrella will be the organist. William R. Trego and Richard Loatman will conduct the choirs.

The featured works will be "Jesu Meine Freude" by J. S. Bach sung by the choir and "Magnificat" by Nicola Porpora sung by the High School Girls' Chorus and accompanied by the high school orchestra and organ.

MUSIC CLUB TO MEET

On December 9, The Music Club of Princeton will meet Wednesday, December 9 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Murchup.

The varied program will include two Bayce Trios for flute, violin and cello played by Jean Thomas, Jane Hannahauer and Elma de Bruyne. Helena Temmer will sing songs in Polish by Chopin and Newtowski to be followed by the Schumann Phantasie for piano.

INCENTIVE PLAN...

For savers. Actually for non-savers who would like to be savers, at First National, we call it the Automatic Savings Plan. You tell us what you'd like to save each month and we automatically transfer that amount from your checking account to your savings account. Every month, automatically. Fearless savings that earn 4 1/2% from day of deposit to day of withdrawal, when you have a minimum of twenty-five dollars in your account at the end of the quarter. And we compound that interest every quarter. There are many other ways to save at First National. Investment Fashions, Saving Certificates and Certificates of Deposit. The rates can go as high as 5 1/2%. That's another incentive. Stop by and talk about it at any of our four offices.

played by Phyllis Lehrer. The final number will be a group of operatic arias sung by Clyde Tipton, Walter Kob, accompanist.

MEETING SCHEDULED

By Recorder Society. The next meeting of the Princeton Recorder Society will be at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the home of Jenny Lehman, 34 Knoll Drive. This will be a concert night. Any group wishing to perform is invited to do so.

After the individual groups play there will be playing by the entire group.

TO PERFORM MESSIAH

At Rider College. This Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Rider College Chapel, the Princeton-Trenton community is invited to perform or listen to the Christmas section of Handel's Messiah directed by Clyde Tipton.

Singers and string players, who are familiar with this work, are welcome. A rehearsal will be held Thursday in the Fine Arts Center, Room 147 and Monday in the Chapel — all at 7 p.m. If you know your part well you need not attend the rehearsals. Rider will provide scores for those who do not bring their own. Please call 896-0800 extension 385 if you plan to participate.

GOPEL GROUP HERE

At Youth Center. The gospel choir known as the Savettes, will inaugurate the season's concert series at the Princeton Youth Center with a concert this Sunday at 9:30 p.m.

The group, based in Philadelphia, was organized in 1952 and gave its first concert that year in Mt. Holly. In the beginning the group had only 12 members, but it now has 50 voices.

Tickets, at $2 each, may be obtained from the Youth Center (924-0996) or by calling Timothy Johnson at 924-2544.

CHAMBER RECITAL SET

By Princeton Inn College. The third in the series of Domical Chamber Music Recitals sponsored by Princeton Inn College will take place at 3 p.m. this Sunday in the College Lounge.

The artists are James Olsen of the New England Conservatory of Music, tenor, and Patricia Zander piano. The program includes eight songs by Schubert (among them "Die Forelle"), and Schumann's song cycle "Dichterliebe." The public is welcome and admission is free.

CLUBS AND ORGANIZATIONS

organizational meeting of its Young Judas Program from 4 to 5:30 Sunday at the Social Hall of Beth-El Synagogue in Hightstown. All children between the ages of 9 and 11 are invited to attend. David Leiser, regional executive director of Young Judas, will be present and will introduce Jeffrey Bedrick, a Princeton University freshman, who will be youth leader for the group. Parents are encouraged to attend and refreshments will be served.

Women's Division of the Jewish Center is planning a Madi Hatters Ball for 9 p.m. Sunday at the Jewish Center. Hats will be given away in advance to decorate and prizes will be awarded. Music will be provided by the Jeremy Steele Band; champagne and refreshments will be served. For reservations call Mrs. Marvin Charen, 921-2832.

Members of the Wellesley Club of Central New Jersey met this week at the home of Mrs. Fenn Stafford, President, to hear a report by Mrs. Henry S. Broad on the recent two-day conference in Trenton of Wellesley alumnae from New Jersey, New York City and Philadelphia.

Those attending the conference heard Wellesley President Ruth Adams and other college representatives speak of such developments at Wellesley as its participation in the so-called Twelve College Program with 11 other Eastern men's and women's colleges; its continued program of cross registration with the Massachusetts Institute of Technology; its Boston residence for students engaged in urban studies; flexible course loads, in individually devised "majors," accredited student leaves of absence; greater student voice in college governance; and more flexibility and diversity in student social and residential life.

The Club will hold its Twelfth Annual Princeton Antiques Show, a benefit for Wellesley College, on March 18 and 20 at the Princeton Day School under the chairmanship of Mrs. Gurdon R. Munger and Mrs. H. James Herring.

A slide lecture on Mexico will highlight the Tuesday meeting of The Melting Pot at the YWCA. Speaker at the 12:30 session will be Mrs. Jay C. Feinberg who will emphasize Mexico City and its surrounding areas. She will also display Mexican handicrafts. The Melting Pot is a club of international membership open to Americans and visitors from around the world.

Catholic Daughters, 6 p.m. Tuesday, at their home. The meeting will be preceded by a covered dish supper and followed by a party and exchange of gifts. Members are urged to bring their homemade cookies, which will be distributed to shut-ins during Christmas visits by the Daughters.

Newcomer Club: luncheon 12:30, Thursday at the Nassau Inn. Guitarian Caroline Musely will provide entertainment. Members may bring guests. For reservations call Miss E. R. Johnson Jr., Princeton Avenue, Rocky Hill. For babysitting call Mrs. Greg Beakley, 799-2363 or Mrs. Mike Kovac, 921-7370.

Princeton Circle, Florence Crittenton Home, will hold its annual meeting Thursday, December 10, at 3 in the lounge of the YWCA. It is open to all. The organization extends its appreciation to all individuals, schools and merchants who contributed to the 60th annual Thanksgiving solicitation.

PEOPLE In The News

Albert H. Marekwardt, a leading authority on the history and structure of the English language, is the 1970 recipient of the David H. Russell Award for Distinguished Research in the Teaching of English, given yearly by the National Council of Teachers of English. Prof. Marekwardt is Paton Foundation Professor of Ancient and Modern Literature at Princeton University.

Presentation was made Saturday at the banquet concluding the annual convention of NCTE in Atlanta. The award, a bronze plaque and a $1,000 prize, is named for the late David H. Russell, a former president of NCTE.

Prof. Marekwardt was cited for his researches which "have extended to the entire range of English linguistics" and have been characterized by "a profound concern for educational activities and possibilities for implications and applications of scientific discovery to the process of teaching." The citation also notes Prof. Marekwardt's "career of invaluable scholarly productivity," extending back into the 1930s, when his landmark book, "Facts About Current English Usage," appeared. Co-author is Fred C. Walcott.

Two Princeton residents, who Raymond and Wally Shaw are playing on the Bowdoin College lucky team.

A. Angus Austen, 10 Princeton Avenue, Princeton director of the Rutgers University Summer Session, is involved with the Rutgers Fund Council in a campaign to raise a record half million dollars for scholarships and other special projects at the State University.

Mr. Austen, a Columbia graduate, has been with Rutgers since 1962. He formerly taught at Georgetown University, Queens College and Princeton University.

William Lucas of 29 Robin Drive, Skillman, has been appointed to the newly created position of Director, Creative Services, by RCA Records. Mr. Lucas will have charge of advertising, sales promotion and all visual creation in choosing album cover art. He joined RCA Records in 1969 as Manager, Advertising and Sales Promotion. Prior to that time, he had been vice president and account supervisor on the RCA Records account at Grey Advertising.

Second Lieutenant Steven J. Pressler has completed a nine-week Ranger Course at the U.S. Army Infantry School, Ft. Benning, Ga. Lt. Pressler received his BS degree in June from the U.S. Military Academy, West Point, N.Y. His wife, Kimberly, lives at 2547 Main Street, Lawrenceville.

Adrian E. Fugate, 137 Loomis Court, a Certified Public Accountant with the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, has been elected to membership in the New York State Society of Certified Public Accountants.

Grace L. Sletely, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilmore L. Sletely, Clarksville, Road Princeton Junction, has been awarded the title of University Scholar for research in prehistoric Southwestern ceramic classification and frequency distribution analysis. During the 1970 season, she acted as Field Laboratory Supervisor and instructor in field techniques for the Rutgers University Archaeological Field School in Montezuma Canyon, San Juan County, Utah. A 1966 graduate of Princeton High School, Miss Sletely will receive undergraduate degrees in both Anthropology and Archaeology in January.

Two Princeton girls, seniors at Wheaton College, Norton, Mass., have been named to the Dean's List there. Miss Diane M. Holmbeck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter C. Holmbeck II, 141 Winfield Drive, is a government major. She was elected to the Social Committee of the College Government Association earlier this year and was secretary of the junior class.

Miss Mary R. O'Brien, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Russell O'Brien, an Edgar Young Road, is an English major. Through an International Relations grant from Wheaton, she participated in the International Intern Program and was employed at the International Labor Office, Geneva, Switzerland. She was elected to the Legislative Board of the College Government Association this fall.

Petty Officer Kevin E. Tenby has been released from active duty in the U.S. Navy after serving four years with the Pacific and Seventh Fleet Forces. He received the Captain's Letter of Commendation for outstanding leadership and professional performance during his enlistment.

George E. Markuson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Markuson of 32 Harrison Street, North, has been commissioned a second lieutenant in the U.S. Air Force upon graduation from Officer Training School at Lackland AFB, Tex. The lieutenant, selected for OTS through competitive examination, is being assigned to training. A 1966 graduate of Webb AFB, Tex., for pilot training at Princeton High School, he received a BA degree from Athens (Ga.) College.

Marine Captain David T. Seder, son of Mrs. F. W. Seder, 176 Cedar Lane, has been presented the air medal for meritorious achievement in aerial flight while serving in Vietnam. A 1962 graduate of the George School and a 1966 graduate of Muhlenberg College, he is now serving with Marine Fighter Attack Squadron 312 at the Marine Corps Air Station, Beaufort, S.C.

U.S. Air Force Sergeant Charles H. Kelch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dixie H. Venable Lincoln Highway, is on duty at Da Nang AB, Vietnam. A security policeman, he is assigned to a unit of the Pacific Air Forces. A 1962 graduate of Princeton High School, he attended Merced (Calif.) Junior College and previously served at Travis AFB, Calif.

In recognition of his outstanding contributions to medical sciences during the past 50 years, Dr. Oskar P. Wintersteiner, a Princeton resident for many years, was named the first recipient of the Squibb Distinguished Scientist Award. The award a commemorative bronze medallion and a $10,000 check, was presented to Dr. Wintersteiner at the dinner by Dr. Philip Handler, president of The National Academy of Sciences.

During his scientific career Dr. Wintersteiner's accomplishments and contributions to science have been numerous. In 1936 he collaborated in isolating cortisone; in 1942 he was invited to join the Graduate Faculty of Rutgers University as honorary professor of biochemistry; the first crystal line form of the sodium salt of penicillin G was isolated in his laboratory in 1943.

In 1948 he received the Presidential Certificate of Merit from President Truman for his work on penicillin during World War II.

Dr. Wintersteiner received his Ph.D. in chemistry at the University of Graz in 1931. He joined The Squibb Institute for Medical Research in 1941 as director of the division of organic chemistry and later of the biochemistry section. From 1961 to 1963 he held the post of scientific advisor, the highest scientific appointment within The Squibb Institute that can be conferred by research and development top management.

Miss Anne C. Martindell, 132 Elm Road, Vice-Chairman of the New Jersey Democratic State Committee, addressed the Federation of Women Shareholders in American Business last week at a meeting in the Waldorf-Astoria. She gave the keynote speech at a session titled "The Challenge to Investors."

Navy Airman Apprentices Michael J. Sodomini, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Sodomini Jr., 123 Washington Road, have completed 28 days of intensive training in the recruit phase of the Navy's "Four-to-Ten-Month" active duty program at the Naval Air Station Training Unit, Memphis, Tenn.

James M. Mead, 25 Philip Drive, manager of the Trenton office of Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith, has been elected a vice-president of the corporation.

Prior to joining Merrill Lynch, he served as an administrative assistant to the late Governor and U.S. Senator James H. Duff of Pennsylvania. He also worked for the New Jersey National Bank.

Mr. Mead is a graduate of Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass., Princeton University, and the University of Virginia Graduate School of Business Administration. During the Korean War he was an officer in the Marine Corps.

ART In Princeton

POTTERS FOR PEACE: At the Peace Gallery, A major collection of pottery is to be found at the Fund for Peace Education in the Pottery for Peace Show, 163 Nassau Street. Nationally-known craftsmen have combined to present an exciting assortment of ceramics attractively backed up by the richly-executed weaving of Adele Akers.

Beautiful forms, large and small, abound in the silhouettes of bowls, pots, platters, sculpture and ornamental pieces of all sizes. The participating potters have each made a major contribution to the feel of the show in very personal glazing techniques, combinations of forms, textures and sizes with soft earth tones predominating and an occasional splash of strong color calling the eye to a special platter, goblet or bowl.

Kil Yun Snider has created last week are using the raku technique, a Japanese method of firing pottery at low temperatures. A teapot with golden glaze and a pair of finely turned goblets reflecting a rich spectrum of shiny color are fine examples of this style of pottery. Highly polished pieces such as a platter by Regis Brodie of the Rhode Island School of Design, play against the softer glazes of wood pots, created by Yvonne Aronson. Solid shapes are also included with small, interestingly placed openings, which the artist designed to contain dried grasses or dried flowers. Bowls, vases and a easerole by Mrs. Aronson are also most attractively glazed in muted transparent colors.

Uses Are Varied. Large sized pots and sculpture are also much in evidence. There are some to look at and some to sit on and some to put things in. A slab pot by Michael Callaghan is decorated in harmonies of soft brown with a white accent enriching the color of this large form.

Tohiko Takezumi delights with the large and the small. Small cloved forms sit wittily on the shelf in muted whites, purples and a grouping of more subtle tones. Large garden forms to be placed anywhere, indoors or out, to form a major accent in any surrounding.

Adele Akers has provided the perfect background for this collection. Scarves, hangings, richly woven textures, pieces of color and tone display the weavers art.

NUMEROUS OTHER SHOWS At the Drawing Room, The eighteenth and nineteenth century was a time when English gentlemen who chose art as a hobby executed small and finely wrought pieces for their own pleasure. An interesting collection of this carefully wrought work is on display at the Drawing Room, 23 Witherspoon. Watercolor or landscapes, pencil sketches and pen and ink drawings all reflect the light touch and the feeling of delicate pleasure that life afforded the upper classes in days gone by.

At the Gallery of Fine Art, The Dorothea Greenbaum exhibit gives Princeton its first local one woman show for this nationally known Princeton resident. A selection of large and small bronze, drawings and graphics offers us some idea of the range of Mrs. Greenbaum's ability to portray living things. Children, birds, animals and plants in combination and single are sensitively shown in a range of media.

Dorothea Greenbaum has earned her reputation as a sculptress and a representative grouping of that sculpture on display. Full figures, heads, animals and portrait of a stray turtle that wandered into her studio have all been translated into expressive pieces of art that reveal as well as portray.

Mrs. Greenbaum's range as an artist is shown in her free and humorous drawings of young ballerinas. The sketches, executed in simple flowing lines display the same feeling for the softness and flexibility of the young forms as do the large bronze pieces.

The work of Dorothea Greenbaum is in the permanent collections of the White House and the Whitney Museum.

At the Eye for Art. The Grandmother, a series of intaglio prints by Leticia Tarago, uses sombre colors and symbolic creatures including birds and reptiles, both real and imaginary, to present a child's view of her grandmother and the mysterious fantasy world surrounding her. The dark and frightening bridge between the young and the very old is depicted through sombre colors that are contrasted with brilliant highlights that could only grow out of a child's fears and fantasy.

A range of textures and tone in aquatint, soft ground and linear effects are joined in a color printing process that employs several plates to produce an extremely rich surface. The artist's knowledge of graphic processes enables her to produce textural feelings that could not be reproduced by more superficial printing methods.

At Gallery 100. The annual show and sale of graphics for the benefit of the graphics atelier of the Princeton Art Association presents the work of professional graphic artists who teach and work in the area. The show includes a complete range of graphic techniques including woodcut, serigraph, collograph, intaglio prints and lithographs.

Her work is in many private collections and has been exhibited in many museums, such as Brookline Museum, Museum of Natural History, Walker Museum, Ohio, and in New Jersey's Newark Museum, Morris Museum and the State Museum, Trenton. Her most recent show is at Gallery 100.

She helped organize the Cookies and Bread Show at the Museum of Contemporary Crafts, New York City, which dealt with the creative art of baking, and is co-author of "Creative Baking—Cookies and Breads," Reinhold.

She says, "I am a designer-craftsman who chooses to work with clay. I feel that today the artist-craftsman can communicate his feelings more readily through the crafts. People's response to crafts objects is more direct. The prospect of creating and making beautiful, functional objects is more readily understandable to most people. The feeling of intimacy and understanding of the goals of this creative output is what inspires me."

VILLANOVA IS NEXT

Tigers still on the road. Few basketball teams in the country open their schedules by playing two of the nation's best away from home, but that's the pressure cooker into which Princeton's young, sophomore-dominated quintet has been tossed. Following the Duke game Tuesday (see page 42), the Tigers head for the Palestra Saturday to face Villanova. The Wildcats, 22-7 last year, have the skilled Howie Porter returning and will provide 6-8 Bill Kapler, one of Princeton's sophomores, with clear indication of the defensive skills needed to guard one of the nation's top big men. Villanova is ninth ranked in the Associated Press pre season poll.

Duke is 13th in the same poll, and Princeton, starting eight sophomores and Captain Bill Sickler, is understandably no where to be found. Penn, incidentally, is 11th in the rankings, while both Dartmouth and Harvard received votes as capable of finishing among the top 20.

From a Princeton point of view, the conception of having the Crimson, which almost never makes it into the Ivy League's first division, finish ahead of the Tigers is intriguing indeed. Harvard had a freshman team last year which won most of its games and scored better than 100 points in many of them.

not partaking in a holiday pressure on them extreme, unfortunately for the Tigers. Sickler is a standout on defense and invariably draws the toughest opposition in the man-to-man matchups.

Pressure this season will be on the front three on the O-line. The first game Con is Pete Carril's team plays in Jadwin is because two of them lack experience and partially because all three will be on the line on Saturday, December 12.

Navy First Jadwin Opponent. The first game Con is Pete Carril's team plays in Jadwin is because two of them lack experience and partially because all three will be on the line on Saturday, December 12. Carril's team plays in Jadwin because two of them lack experience and partially because all three will be on the line on Saturday, December 12. Carril's team plays in Jadwin because two of them lack experience and partially because all three will be on the line on Saturday, December 12.

Taylor, Manakas Big Assets. The unusual ability provided by the Tiger guards, Brian Taylor and Ted Manakas, figures to keep Princeton in most games this year. Taylor, who can do it all, has a fine outside shot and can drive beautifully. Unlike most varsity newcomers, he is also extremely adept on defense. Manakas will also help loosen up zones thrown against Princeton with shots from beyond the circle. He is particularly adept at feeding others on the team — Carril calls him "the most creative passer I've ever coached."

The varsity freshman game in Jadwin Saturday proved to be a good deal of a mismatch, but the team on which Taylor and Manakas played last year without losing one was unable to give the John Hummer Jeff Pettie varsity much of a battle, either. And that meeting took place late in the season. The varsity had 12 points before the freshmen got a field goal, and with no more than 14 minutes gone, it was 43-18. The halftime score stood at 39-25 and by the time it was all over, the varsity had won, 104 to 69. Carril sent his reserves into action well before the intermission.

Taylor collected 20 points on 10 field goals to pace both teams, while Manakas added 17 and Sickler 13. Every member of the 12-man varsity squad scored before the game was over.

For the freshmen, 6-10 Andy Rmol made half a dozen field goals. John Berger, a 6-5 forward, contributed 19 points. Coach Art Hyland's squad will open its season here against the Navy Plebes at 6 o'clock the night the varsity faces the midshipmen.

25 years of hard labor for $1780.*

This year, everybody's introducing a new "Volkswagen-sized" economy car.

So not to be outdone, we've done the same. Except, of course, we didn't have to start from scratch.

For years, while everybody else has been jumping from model to model and worrying about looks, we've stuck with our original and improved the way it works.

And so today, while ours may not look like the newest economy car, it's the most developed. It's the only one with a sealed steel bottom. To protect its insides against just about everything outside.

And the only one with a free electronic diagnostic system. To spot problems early and actually help extend its life.

Best of all, even with all this, our new economy car costs only $1780.

So compared to all the others, even if it doesn't look the newest, maybe now it looks the best.

PHS Basketball Team to Open 24-Game Schedule Tuesday Night

The Princeton High School basketball team will open a 24 game schedule Tuesday evening at 9 against visiting Brick Township. A jayvee contest will start at 6:30.

What is the outlook for coach Larry Ivan's Little Tigers, who last year lost their last seven in a row to turn what looked like Ivan's first winning season into an 11-12 campaign? "We'll be smaller than last season but we should have more quickness, more speed," commented Ivan. "We'll be weak off the boards so we'll have to concentrate more than ever on blocking out."

Another problem Ivan must face is finding four starters to complement 5-11 guard Bob Sweeney, the only player back from last winter. Time is of the essence. Although Ivan reported the practice schedule is "right where it was last year," he has only 18 days from the start of practice (Nov. 15) to find a starting quintet, develop a team attitude and practice his complicated offensive and defensive alignments.

From a squad of 70 plus, Ivan has cut to 34 and at present is working with 10 seniors, 11 Juniors and 13 sophomores. A possible combination for Tuesday's opener may include the same five who started in a game with the PHS alumni held during the holiday week-end. They are seniors Bill Evers, Dave Fry, and Sweeney; Cliff Carter, a junior; and sophomore center Leon Robinson. Robinson at 6-3 is the tallest.

Three from Football Team. Other seniors trying to make the squad are Pete Ambrus, Dave Kimmel, Joe Bolster, Tim Nuding and three football players who just joined the workouts — Darryl Boone, Richard Jackson and Phil White.

In addition to Carter, Juniors who have looked impressive include Kent Bain, a transfer student from Illinois, and John Yeaman, Yeaman, 6-3, must wait another week for a broken wrist to heal: "Bain is going to help us," said Ivan.

Other juniors in contention are Kim Atkins, Bill Wilson, Bob Worn, David Roessell, Steve Stone, James Ward, Wes Hines and Chris Granel. Of the 13 sophomores, Robinson and Anthony Bailey have the best chance of sticking.

Right now, Ivan, who has scheduled scrimmages with Hunterdon Central and Northern Burlington before the opener, reported: "We're still experimenting, we're finding out who's doing what."

"The kids are doing well," he continued. "They're up to the job and they can do it. We'll win a lot of ball games; we'll be in that state tournament again!"

Now In Group 3. That opening opponent Brick Township (Brick Township?) ought to tip off followers of the Little Tigers that something is up this season. It is, PHS with just over 500 male students has been dropped from Group 4 to Group 4 of the Southern Jersey Division. "This will probably be our last year to play Trenton (1547 boys)," said Ivan. Also falling by the wayside will be such traditional foes as Steinert and Hamilton. In their place will be teams like Hightstown and Hunterdon Central, Madison Township and Mendham in the north. Newcomers in futures years will include southern Group 3 schools like Moorestown, Lakewood, North Burlington, Sterling, Pemberton, Cinnaminson, Rancocas Valley, Highland and Shawnee.

"We had no business playing Trenton," Ivan commented. "We don't have hungry kids who want to play basketball 12 months a year in this community. It's just not here."

If PHS qualifies again for the NJSSIAA tournament, its opponents will be Group 3 Schools. Last year, after making the tournament for the first time in years, PHS lost in the first round to Cherry Hill West.

Tournament an Exception. One exception to the drift toward smaller schools will be the Christmas Tournament December 29-30 at Summit, comprised of Summit, Berkeley Heights, PHS and Union, a perennial northern power.

"I really wanted this one," Ivan said. "It's good basketball, it's good exposure for the kids. Anything can happen in a tournament. The kids can get sky high."

Counting the tournament, PHS plays eight straight games away between Dec. 21 and January 19. "That's going to make or break us right there," Ivan said.

Despite all the formidable tasks ahead, Ivan, true to character, refused to put mouth. "We're not going to say this is a rebuilding year. That's a negative attitude. We're going to that tournament. The kids believe it. We're looking forward to a good season."

Run But Won't Gun. If PHS is not blessed with great shooters or great height, how does Ivan hope to win? "We'll run but we won't gun," he said. Gunning is anathema to his team concept. He also hopes to cut down the excessive fouling of last year which hurt his club.

Ivan, in his three years as head coach, has tried to install a somewhat complicated game-based on defense and ball control. It takes a lot of discipline, especially for high school players who feel the object of the game is to run and shoot.

Says Ivan, "Kids think the guy who has the ball controls the play. Not so. A defensive player can force the man with the ball to do what he wants."

"People say, why don't you build an offense like Princeton? Well we don't have a Peirce. We don't have a Hummer. It's just not here."

"We'll have to do it the way I feel will be most effective for us. We'll work with what we have and we'll do all right. The kids are very enthusiastic, they know what we're trying to do."

"We're like a Volkswagen. We're making internal changes. The people can't see it but the kids see it." And then, repeating his favorite phrase, "We'll be in that state tournament."

Leonard Webster will again coach the jayvee team. After guiding it to a winning season last year, his first. Taking over from Bill Humes as freshman coach will be newcomer Bill Cashman, a graduate of Trenton State who played basketball in service and at Mercer Community College. Last year, the freshmen lost only two games.

Tiger Sextet to Begin New Season Thursday

Princeton's hockey team appears to have everything it needs for marked improvement this season but an experienced goalie. Whether this is similar to a basketball team well staffed at eight positions but lacking a good pitcher remains to be seen.

Coach Bill Quackenbush will direct a squad composed largely of juniors and sophomores—in fact, if sophomore Ed Swift starts in the cage for the Tigers, Captain Tom MacMillan could be the only senior on the ice as the opening game off against St. Lawrence. That is set for Thursday night at 8 in Baker Rink, with Boston College coming in for an afternoon game Saturday at 2.

Swift, goalie on a better than average freshman sextet, is battling senior John Miller for the right to replace the graduated Middy Tigheham. The latter who averaged the extremely high total of 30 saves per game, frequently kept the Tigers in contention over a three-year period with his agile work. If one of them can handle the difficult net minding chores well, Princeton hockey has a chance to move above the 300 mark for the first time in several years.

Working with the goalie behind the blue line will be MacMillan and three sophomores—John Stuckey, Tom Homelme and Duncan Keanie. Quackenbush thinks this quartet will give Princeton greater ability at clearing the mark out of its own zone than it has known in recent winters.

First Line Back Inert. Symbolic of hope that Princeton's hockey will improve this year and next is the fact that the first line will be composed of three players all of whom skated together last season as sophomores. Art Schmen enters this unit for Roger Klie and John Herburn.

Last season, this trio accounted for 24 of the 68 goals

the Tigers made, with Herburn getting credit for 11. All three are good stickhandlers.

John McLean, inactive last winter, will center the second line on which Jack McNah and Warren Ayers are the wings. Senior Jim Tiltmeyer will center another line on which sophomores Bob and Wayne Bozan will skate. Cousins, the Beazins led the Class of 1973 in scoring with 21 and 30 points respectively.

Quackenbush actually can put four lines on the ice, what with few graduation losses and better than usual depth from the sophomore class. The added competition for regular jobs will be a marked benefit to this year's squad.

Stronger on Defense. While the vital position of goalie remains a question mark, Quackenbush is optimistic about Princeton's chances for major improvement over last year's dismal 5:17.1 mark. The defense should be considerably better, he feels, and has his which also reveal that one big reason why the Tigers did not win their sixth-place ranking in team scoring with 17.6 points per game ahead only of Columbia and Brown. Those two shared the cellar together.

That Princeton could run flat until it reached the opposition's 20 yard line is shown by the 1,604 yards the Orange and Black gained on the ground, second only to Dartmouth. Even though they were fifth in yards gained passing, the overall offense of 2,417 yards kept the Tigers in the runner up spot to the champion Indians. On a per game basis, Princeton averaged 353 yards, far behind the 460 credited to Dartmouth but 30 yards a game better than third place Yale.

Defensively, Princeton was third, yielding 309 yards per game, about 40 yards more than Yale, Dartmouth, which shut out five of the seven teams it faced, allowed only 193 yards to each of its opponents.

The Green set a league record when it permitted no more than four points per game. Princeton was fourth in this department, giving up 21.7 and logically enough failing to win half its games when it scored only 17.6 points on the average.

Bjorklund a Standout. Although he finished second to Cornell's Ed Marinaro in rushing when he played in only six games, Hank Bjorklund was virtually the equal of the Cornell halfback in yards averaged in each contest. Marinaro barely finished on top, 144.9 to 141 for the Princetonian.

Plummer, playing in all seven league games, topped Bjorklund in total offense, 889 to 864. The Tiger quarterback passed for 690 yards and ran for 199 more. In passing alone, he ranked fifth.

Pancho Meir, Penn's senior quarterback, led in total offense, compiling 1,158 yards to 1,132 for runner up Jim Chassey of Dartmouth. John Short, Dartmouth halfback, led in scoring with 13 touchdowns for 78 points, while Marinaro had 50 to place second.

The Tiger coach thinks his team can play on a par with all but four or five teams on the schedule, listing "only Cornell, Harvard, Clarkson and Boston University as out of our reach." He feels the Orange and Black has a shot at winning any one of its first six games, which include St. Lawrence and Boston College and then a trip to West Point to face Army next Wednesday. R.P.L., Brown and Northeastern follow prior to the Christmas break.

Saturday saw the team guilty of the kind of take-it easy approach to the game that will cost it heavily against any opponent on the regular schedule. After having trounced the freshmen, 8 to 1, earlier in the month, the fell behind, 4-1, and were able to achieve a 4-4 tie with 23 seconds left. A five-minute overtime period did not break the deadlock.

Quackenbush is happy about a freshman goalie, Phil Robertson, whom he credits with "having all the moves." If the Tigers can make it to .500 this season, the squad composed largely of sophomores and juniors may do even better next year when Robertson is available.

PDS AWARDS LETTERS
For Fall Sports, Forty-one boys were awarded letters in varsity football, soccer and cross country at Princeton Day School last week.
Football coach Dan Barren praised 17 letter winners for making this year's team the most successful in PDS' brief varsity history. The coming-from-behind team finished 5-2-1 overall, and was second in the Penn Jersey conference, losing only to Hun while posting a 4-1 league record.

Fifteen boys won letters in soccer. The team had an 8-6 season, outscoring opponents 32-11, and was 2-4 in Penn Jersey competition. It finished second in both the Rutgers Prep and New Jersey "B" tournaments.

Eight runners received cross country letters from coach John Saladino. PDS harriers won four and lost seven in spite of the individual performances by Capt. Sam Rodgers and Co-Captains-elect Art Mitnacht and Jay MacAfee.

Soccer Co-Captain Rob Holt was named to the state all-star team. Holt holds all scoring records at PDS with 35 points on 18 goals and 17 assists—each a record.
John Gordon, Steve Bash and Geoff Ferrante will captain soccer in 1971.

Football letter winners are Tri-Captains Booth, Claghorn and Carl Jacobelli, Tony Dale, Paul Funk, Robbie Gipe, Kalpin, George Mayzell, McCandless, Moore, Robbie Nor-

Cross country letters were awarded to Capt. Rodgers, Dan Cantor, David Goeke, Alex Laughlin, Larry Levenson, MacAfee, Mitnacht, Keith Plapinger and manager David Stark.

IVY INN NIPS HAC
For Princeton Championship. Trailing 8-6 with less than four minutes to play, Ivy Inn's Bruce Sandvick and John Ciardi combined on a long touchdown pass to produce a 14-8 victory and give Ivy the flag football championship of Princeton.

The hard-fought contest, well played on both sides, was dominated mostly by the defensive units. Each team needed a superb razzle-dazzle play to score its first touchdown.
The first half was scoreless. Ivy came close to a score near the end of the second quarter, but on a fourth and goal situation, HAC linebacker Bob Smyth picked off a pass in the end zone and ran it out to the 40-yard line. When the first half ended HAC had moved down to Ivy's 10-yard line.
Early in the third period, Ivy's flanker Tony Boccanfuso came around and took a hand-off from quarterback Sandvick on what appeared to be an end around play, but pulled up and fired a scoring pass to Sandvick who had drifted into the clear. The try for a two-point conversion failed.

HAC came back later in the period with its own version of the same play. Flanker Mike McCullough came around for a handoff from quarterback George Packard and threw a touchdown pass to split end John Saladino. When Packard hit Doug Hoffman with a two-point conversion pass, HAC had a two-point lead and dreams of glory.

These were shattered with just a few minutes remaining when Cifelli made his fine catch and scampered into the end zone. Sandvick then passed to Cifelli again for the two-point conversion.
In the Thanksgiving Day game, Ewing Giants whipped Malt Tavern, 34-16, and won the league championship. No playoffs will be held.

PRIZES AWARDED

By Dog Training Club. The Princeton Dog Training Club held its graduation exercises last week at Community Park School, awarding prizes to the four top dogs and their owners in beginner and intermediate categories. Some 38 dogs competed.

Brett Wilson's poodle, Shemie, took first in the beginner class, followed by Freckles, a German Short Hair Pointer, owned by Jeffrey Kramer. In third place was Nelson, a Great Dane, owned by Linda Reiter, and fourth was Arthur Collins' Doberman Pinscher, Dobbie.

TIGERS LOSE TO DUKE

But Make Fine Showing. A 75 loss to Duke at Greensboro N.C., Tuesday night left Princeton's young basketball team with an 11 record and considerable optimism for the future. The Tigers were tied, 75-41, with just over a minute and a half to go, losing on two successive one and one conversions by the home team at the foul line.

Duke's margin actually represented the high cost of rules violations by Princeton players. Pete Carril and his players. Twice Carril was called for technical fouls when he pumped up from the bench to protest decisions by the officials, and the victors converted both free throws.

Twice more, Princeton players stepped into the foul line while big Randy Denton was in the act of shooting. He missed on both occasions but under more stringent officiating in effect this season was awarded another shot and made good both times.

It was the 4-10 Denton who was largely responsible for the final score with his 29 points. None of the Princeton front court men could match his height and shooting ability. However, 16 points which all came in the second half by Jeff Lawson of Duke also hurt the Orange and Black.

Munkas a Stand Out. Twenty points for sophomore guard Ted Munkas of the Tigers were a part of the Princeton cause for cheer. Brian Taylor, the other back court man for Princeton, said he was disappointed with his 17 point contribution, but the two showed every evidence of the great ability they demonstrated as newcomers of last year's unbeaten freshman quintet.

Welcome reserve strength also came from junior Al Duffy, who was injured midway through the first half when sophomore Bill Duke picked up three early fouls. Duffy saw considerable action thereafter, scored 11 points and contributed some fine rebounding.

Indication that playing away from home will not create major problems in the future was provided by the Tigers' surge to an 8-3 lead against the nationally ranked Blue Devils. Pius were in front 70-74, fell behind by eight (81-76) and then ripped off three field goals and two fouls in the final two minutes of the opening half to walk off the floor tied at 81-81.

With eight minutes left, the Tigers were in front again, 87-81, but they could not maintain the fine pace they had shown early in the final half nor could anyone stop Denton. The score was tied three times in the final four minutes. In Princeton never led after the home team drew even at 71-71.

The losers actually outshot Duke from the floor, 20 to 29, losing the game on free throws. Four of which were the result of the technical violations. The defeat was Princeton's sixth in this series and the Tigers are still looking for their first victory.

Joseph M. Jingo

JINGOLI TO STEP DOWN

As PIHS Athletic Director. To paraphrase Will Rogers, there never was a person who didn't like Joe Jingo, who is stepping down after 25 years of association with athletics at Princeton High School.

Football coach of the Little Tigers for 16 years and assistant director for the past 10, Jingo will leave in January on a year long sabbatical leave. He will tour the country, visiting secondary schools, studying their programs in physical education, health, driver education and drugs before returning to PIHS to teach. He will also resume his position as chairman of the school's physical education department, which he held in tandem with athletic director.

Joe always gave that little extra that he didn't have to be appeared at every football game, even the ones on the road; all the home basketball games, track meets, urging the Little Tigers on with his presence. Always, for everyone, he had a ready smile.

Two years ago, when the school's coaches became involved in a dispute with the school board over extra pay for extra services, Jingo tried to exclude the athletic director from any agreement. There was compromise but on one point the coaches would not back down; Jingo had to be considered part of any settlement.

He worked hard as athletic director. Wrestling, hockey and cross-country were added as major sports during his time. He helped build the athletic program at PIHS to the point where it embraced 12 interschool sports and a schedule of more than 100 athletic events each year for both girls and boys.

In a typical spring day, he had to schedule transportation and obtain officials for baseball, track, lacrosse, tennis and golf. Often two events would be held the same day. A few days of rain meant postponements and rescheduling and would have Joe talking to himself as he tried to straighten out the mess.

For 25 years, I've been dedicating my time to the athletic program both day and night, including Saturdays," he said. "It's been enjoyable but very time consuming."

In his tenure as football coach, his teams won 70, lost 34 and tied three and captured six Mercer County titles. His 1960 team was undefeated. His last season was 1961 after which he turned the job over to his long time assistant, Dick Wood.

3 RANKED NATIONALLY

From Here In Squash. Three Princeton area women are among the top ten squash players in the nation, Mrs. J. P. Webster Jr., president of the Princeton Women's Squash Association, reported this week.

They are Mrs. Leland Meyer of Pennington, winner of the national championship last year and ranked number 1; Mrs. Webster, ranked number 4, up one from last year; and Mrs. Wendy Zaharko, a freshman at Princeton University, number 7. Mrs. Zaharko, who was not ranked last year, is from Wilmington, Del.

Other members of the Princeton Squash Racquets Association who have been ranked nationally in the past include Mrs. Pepper Costabile, Mrs. Anne S. Stockton, Mrs. David Frothingham, Mrs. John Clagburn, Mrs. Hallett Johnson and Miss Virginia Minor.

On December 10-12, the Princeton Association will host the New Jersey State Tournament at the Pretty Brook Tennis Club, and for the first time, the national championships at Jaden Gymnasium in February. The latter will include a consolation tournament and an invitational doubles tournament.

LEAD CHANGES

In Women's Bowling League. Switz's Colonial Diner No. 2 is back on top in the Princeton Women's Bowling League. Following last week's action at the Hightstown Lanes, Switz's had 50 points to 58 for Hamilton Supply, last week's front runner.

Cranbury Bank is very much in contention with 57 points, while Used Car Mart and Switz's Colonial Diner No. 1.

Winter Sports on WPRB-FM

Princeton University's student radio station, WPRB-FM, will broadcast a majority of the Princeton basketball and hockey games this winter. Its frequency is 103.3.

The station will carry live action reports on all basketball games save the three to be played during the Christmas holidays. All hockey games, home and away, will also be broadcast with the exception of the Northeastern game December 18 and the tournament in St. Louis December 27 and 28. When hockey conflicts with basketball, tapes will follow on the hockey action, with the time of the broadcasts available by calling WPRB at 921-9284.

best from the many entries we received. The young in our ar-ties are to be commended on their artistic ability, and I'd like to personally thank each and every youngster who en-

Question:

What do these systems have in common?

- Trademark Search
- Chemical Patent
- Inverted File Retrieval
- Subscription Fulfillment
- Association File Management

Answer:

They all support a large file data base, allow on-line searching in a remote computing system, employ user-oriented language for query, and are operational now on our IBM System 360/50.

But, most importantly, they all were developed by PTSS (meeting scheduled completion dates and under tight budget constraints) and all are currently making PTSS customers very happy.

TWO ARE PROMOTED

By Opinion Research, Two Opinion Research Corporation staff members have received promotions. They are Anne P. Row, who has been promoted from personnel assistant to assistant personnel manager, and William Vasilios, who has been promoted from assistant production manager to production manager.

Mrs. Row, a resident of New Hope, joined Opinion Research Corporation in 1964 as a secretary. She was named personnel assistant in 1966. In addition to handling all applicant interviewing and maintaining employee benefit and insurance records, she is a member of the Personnel Committee and prepares payroll reviews and national and area salary surveys.

Mr. Vasilios, 12 Craven Lane, Lawrenceville, joined Opinion Research Corporation in 1969. He has overall responsibility for the firm's art, coding, printing, data processing, and typing departments and is responsible for building services and the production of all survey reports.

PSYCHOLOGIST ADDED
To Total Research Staff, Jerry Shulman, a Social Psychologist, has been added to the staff of Total Research, Inc.

The company is a subsidiary of The Princeton Communications Group, which in addition to research, provides service in management consulting, audio-visual production, graphics and design, and printing.

Mr. Shulman, a former group head at R.H. Bruskin Associates in New Brunswick, and Senior Project Head at Benton & Bowles in New York, brings to Total Research a broad background in the application of psychological and sociological concepts to marketing and social action problems.

At TRI, Mr. Shulman also provides expertise in the assessment of consumer values and attitudes, particularly as it applies to the determination of product positioning. Among Mr. Shulman's other duties at TRI will be the conducting of research on new products, advertising effectiveness, and corporate image.

Mr. Shulman received a B.A. degree in psychology, and an M.A. degree in sociology from Brooklyn College.

News Of The CHURCHES

MEDIEVAL SERVICE SET

At Trinity: A medieval Advent service with its carols, instruments, processions and apples with rosemary as multimedia in approach to worship as contemporary efforts will be revised this Sunday at the 9 and 11 a.m. services in Trinity Episcopal Church.

Christmas carols from the 12th through the 15th centuries will be sung by the church's three choirs, led by James Linton, organist and choirmaster. They will be accompanied by a consort of recorders, cornets, viol da gamba, bells and percussion instruments. Instrumentalists include Dr. Edwin Hopkins, James Lehmann, Elizabeth Ettinghausen, the Rev. Joseph Harrison, Neil Snow and Geoffrey Naylor.

According to the Rev. James R. Whitmore, rector of Trinity, the Advent procession expresses the Church's preparation for the coming of Christ at the Christmas festival. During the service, the ministers, lay readers and choir move from the West end to the East, from darkness to light.

Several stations are made in important parts of the church during which lessons are read and the medieval carols are sung. At the end of the Advent services will be the playing of percussion instruments by members of the Trinity Guild, and the distribution of apples with rosemary, a symbol of fallen man, redeemed, during the final exultation.

ELECTIONS HELD

At Trinity Church: At Monday evening's congregational meeting, Trinity Parish elected representatives to the vestry and to the Trinity Church Committee. It was unanimously agreed that All Saints' Chapel on Spaulding Lane, founded by the parish ten years ago, become an independent church.

Named to the Trinity Parish vestry were Hugh D. West, Douglas McCune and Christopher R.P. Rodgers, all of Trinity Church; Stanley MacAfee, Roy Porterfield and Mrs. William White, all of All Saints' Chapel. The Parish vestry will serve until All Saints' becomes a separate church, an anticipated event in May.

To the Trinity Church Committee, the congregation elected Mrs. Robert J. Shaw, Mrs. James Phlox, Leighton Laughlin, Frank Gordon and John Fleming. The Committee will become the vestry of Trinity Church, Mercer Street, when All Saints' severs its relationship.

Leah H. Custer, parish warden, was chairman of the nominating committee.

SEMINAR HELD

The Institutional Ministry, An ecumenical, experimental conference on "Ministry to People of the People" was held at Princeton Theological Seminary last week.

The seminar was led by the Reverend James D. Kepner, supervising chaplain at the State Youth Reception and Correction Center, Yardville. An Orthodox Catholic priest, who has conducted in institutional ministry for nine years.

Participants visited the Yardville center, where they were addressed by William Scott, staff criminal psycho-

"IN THE BEGINNING,"

The Stuart School's wool tapestry with the peaceable kingdom theme, returned to the school this week after a month-long viewing at First Presbyterian Church. The tapestry was made by 50 girls ages 10 to 14 during the 1966-67 school year under the guidance of Ann Wiseman Denver. The girls designed the figures, transferred them to the canvas and worked their designs with colonial shuttle looms, using more than 50 pounds of wool fabric cut in narrow strips. The tapestry was exhibited at the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York, and from it have come special clutches for New York children, a book by Mrs. Denver on tapestry techniques and a series of workshops in Massachusetts.

TO HEAR JUDGE NODEN

At Breakfast Session, Judge J. Wilson Noden of the Mercer County Juvenile and Domestic Relations Court, will address the Men's Breakfast Club of the Lawrenceville Presbyterian Church at 8:30 this Sunday. The meeting will be held in the faculty dining room at Rider College, Van Clieve Drive.

An alumnus of Rutgers, Judge Noden has served on the court for the past 12 years. He is involved in a number of civic activities, including board membership for the Babe Ruth League and the YMCA.

The noon and 6 p.m. national meetings is open to all interested persons. Reservations may be made by calling the church office (896-1212).

WILEY MEETING SET

By Methodist WSES, The Christmas meeting of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of Princeton United Methodist Church will be held at 8 p.m. this Thursday in the church social hall. Mrs. Arthur L. Benson is WSES president.

The program includes "Scenes and Music of Christmas" arranged by Dr. and Mrs. David Fleck with music by the Morning Tabernacle Choir. Christmas carols played on recorders will be presented by Mr. and Mrs. William Stewart and Mrs. Henry Horn.

The Lin-Simpson Circle is in charge of the program; the Phillips-Cleaver Circle will serve as hostesses.

HABIBI TO LECTURE

At Jewish Center, "The Religious Crisis in Israel" will be discussed by Rabbi Moshe Habib, one of the Knesset members, Tel Aviv, at 8 p.m. on Sunday, December 13. His lecture is the third in the current series sponsored by the adult education center.

Rabbi Zogor was the first rabbi to be recognized by the Israeli Government as a Rabbinate representative. Habib has since founded two progressive congregations.

BULLETIN NOTES

The Princeton Interfaith Council's task force will meet at 12:15 p.m. this Tuesday in the First Day School building of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church will hold a congregational meeting following the 10 a.m. service of Holy Communion. Elders and deacons will be elected at the meeting.

Pacific Southern Shaw Set
New Jersey's largest model railroad layout (in HO scale), operated by the Pacific Southern Railway Co. of Rocky Hill Inc., will present its seventh annual Christmas show on Saturday and Sunday, December 12 and 13. Performances are scheduled from noon until 5 p.m.

Proceeds benefit the Rocky Hill Fire Company and Rocky Hill Rescue Squad. Tickets are available at Buxtons, Route 206, Nassau Hobby, Edna's in Rocky Hill, Somerset Electronics, Somerset, Bill's Hobby Center, Morrisville Pa., and The Model Railroad Shop at Dunellen. Tickets may also be purchased from members of the Rocky Hill Volunteer Companies. Prices are 75c for children and $1.25 for adults.

BENEFIT DANCE PLANNED

Funds to Fight Trap Rock
A fund raising dance and champagne supper will be held Friday, December 18 from 9 to 1 a.m. at the American Sportsman's Club on Seton Road, Princeton.

The Trap Rock Area Citizens Association is sponsoring the dance to raise funds to continue their efforts for the preservation and protection of the environment. The Association is made up of people living in the Franklin Township Kingson Griggstown, Rocky Hill, Montgomery Township and northern Princeton area who are most affected by the dust, noise and possible expansion of the Kingston Trap Rock Quarry's operations.

Musicians for the dance will be by Newton Stewart's band. Co-Chairmen for the dance, Mrs. Marcus Knowlton and Mrs. Donald Praeland and their committee chairmen are planning to provide guests with dancing in a Christmas atmosphere, set-ups for drinks and at midnight a champagne supper.

Tickets at $25 per couple may be obtained from Mrs. Freehand at 921-2481 or Mrs. Knowlton at 924-2795.

PUBLIC INVITED

To Music Events. Two recitals, open to the public without charge, will be given next week at Westminster Choir College.

William Chedde, associate professor of piano at the choir college, will give a recital next Tuesday, as part of the Westminster Faculty Recital Series. Next Wednesday classic guitarist Eric Street will perform. Both recitals will be given in the college Playhouse at 8 p.m.

Mr. Chedde was graduated from the Juillard School of Music where he studied with Sasha Gordinitzky and Adele Marcus. He has appeared in New York's Town Hall and has appeared in the east and mid-west as recitalist and a guest soloist with orchestras.

He will play the Sonata in A Major, Op. 10, by Beethoven, Sonata in B-flat minor, Op. 35, by Chopin, Three Piano Sonatas by Ives; Jeux d'Eau by Ravel and Sonata (1922) by Ginastera.

APARTMENTS APPROVED

In Lawrence Township. A 120-unit garden apartment complex planned for a 12-acre tract on Franklin Corner Road and Route 1 has been approved by the Lawrence Township Planning Board. The project will consist of seven buildings containing 96 one-bedroom and 24 two-bedroom apartments. Proposed by Anthony Lepari and Joseph Bueket of Paterson, the complex would be known as Franklin Corner Apartments. The board added several conditions with its approval, including installation of sidewalks and curbing and planting a buffer zone of trees.

The board also approved site plans for construction of a 106-by-163 dining hall for the central campus of the Lawrenceville School. It would replace several smaller dining halls.

PARK PLAN APPROVED

In West Windsor. Federal aid for West Windsor Township's Groves Mill Pond park proposal has been assured with the approval of the project by the Delaware Valley Regional Planning Commission.

The U.S. will contribute half the cost of the 40-acre, $16,500 park. The planning commission is a clearinghouse for requests for federal aid for various projects in this area.

YOUTH TO BENEFIT

From Jadwin Program. The Jadwin Youth Program began this week, following the same format as last year.

The University facility is available on Wednesday afternoons from 1:30 to 3:30 and on Thursday mornings from 8 to 11. Basketball and track will be featured both days and tennis on Saturday only. The program will run through the end of March.

TODDLERS TO SEE SANTA

At YMCA Christmas Program. YMCA Toddlers will meet Santa Claus at their annual Christmas program on Thursday, December 10 at 1 p.m.

The program for mothers and boys and girls 3 to 5 will include Christmas films, Christmas carols and stories and of course, a visit by Santa Claus. Punch, coffee and Christmas cookies will also be served.

YMCA Toddlers classes will be working on letters to Santa which they will bring to the program for Santa to take personally back to the North Pole. Children not in YMCA Toddlers School are asked to prepare their letter at home and bring it with them.

This year instead of receiving a gift, pre-schoolers will be given the opportunity of bringing a gift for some needy child, either a good toy or piece of clothing. Mothers are asked to make reservations at the YMCA office since the number attending must be limited. Mrs. Sue Duckworth, Mrs. Leslie Malakian, and Mrs. Jean Thomas are planning the program.

DRUG BILL PROGRESSES

Awails Approval by House. U.S. Senator Harrison A. Williams, Jr. (D-N.J.) said this week that Senate passage of a drug abuse control bill was "a meaningful step" toward reducing the use of drugs. The bill, entitled the "Federal Drug Abuse and Drug Dependence Prevention, Treatment, and Rehabilitation Act of 1970" has passed the Senate and now goes to the House.

Sen. Williams, a member of the Senate Subcommittee on Alcoholism and Narcotics, was the original sponsor of the drug bill. "Senate passage of this measure represents a meaningful step on the road to substantially reducing the scourge of drug abuse," he commented.

"It marks the first time that a chamber of the U.S. Congress has declared that drug dependence is an illness of disease, which requires a broad range of health and rehabilitation services for treatment," he added. "Clearly, this kind of approach is overdue. The abuse of drugs has become a national cancer of epidemic proportions in this country, and our old approach to the problem have failed miserably."

"Steps toward stricter enforcement of drug laws will not, by themselves, solve this problem," Sen. Williams declared. "What is needed is precisely the kind of comprehensive, nationwide program of education, treatment and rehabilitation that is contained in this bill." He pointed out that he had introduced a similar bill last year. Hearing on his bill were held both in Washington and in New Jersey.

"The bill which passed the Senate contained many of the same principles and approaches that were in my original bill," he said. "Certainly, the aims and goals of the bill are the same and I am very pleased to support this bill as strongly as I did my original proposal."

The Senate passed bill would establish a National Institute for the Prevention and Control of Drug Abuse and Drug Dependence to coordinate all federal programs, grants and research in this area.

It authorizes $55 million over the next three years in grants to states to develop drug abuse treatment and rehabilitation programs. In addition, $15 million is authorized for direct grants to public and private agencies engaged in drug abuse education, treatment and rehabilitation. This would include private rehabilitation organizations such as DARE, NCO, Integrity, Inc. and Odyssey House in New Jersey. It would also include grants to medical schools to develop drug abuse training for health professionals.

YOGA CLASS OFFERED
By YWCA. Swami Shripuremananda will lecture at the YWCA Thursday, December 10 at 6:30 p.m.

The two-hour limited enrollment class is open to all. The lecture and demonstration will be followed by an exercise session for participants. Registrations will be taken at the YWCA office in the order received.

Director of the Yoga Vedanta Society of New York Swami Shripuremananda was ordained in the Yoga Vedanta Academy in Rishikesh, India, following eight years of training. He has also been chief editor of the Divine Life Society magazine, an instructor at the Yoga Vedanta Academy. He was director of the Sivananda Yoga Vedanta Center, New York City, from 1963-69, and is also the leader of the Sivananda Yoga Vedanta Centers in Buenos Aires, Santiago de Chile, and Montevideo.

Mrs. John Dragon is program chairman, and Mrs. John Costello is director of the health, physical education, and recreation department of the YWCA, which is sponsoring the program.

SKI TRIPS PLANNED

By YWCA. Women and girls at the Princeton area may register for any of three limited enrollment ski trip programs offered by the YWCA. His hands and children are eligible to participate also in the skiing at Great Gorge, Snow Bowl, Big Boulder and Vernon Valley.

Wednesday afternoon ski trips are scheduled for January 13, January 27, and February 10, from 1:30 to 9 each day. The Tuesday women's ski trips, from 8 to 6 January 19, February 2, and February 19, are open to husbands and children. On the February 10 school holiday, day long special special ski trips to adults. Further details on fees and reservations may be obtained at the YWCA.

WILLIAM BUCKLEY HERE

For Wednesday Speech. William F. Buckley Jr., nationally syndicated columnist and author, was scheduled to speak at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday in Dillon Gymnasium.

The speech is sponsored by the Undergraduates for a Stable America, an organization of Princeton University students, which began during last year's October Vietnam moratorium. It is open to the public free of charge.

But at Country Antiques can you find...

A Queen Anne brass candlestick
Chippendale tongs and shovel and 18th Century andirons of brass.

A foot warmer, Penna., punched tin on all sides, double hearth; unique and possessing its own ember-box

A matching pair of early English pew-ler handled mugs.

A hand woven signed and dated coverlet in indigo blue, American eagles throughout and dated 1836.

A collection of silver baby cups, varied sizes and weights (not dramatically exciting but difficult to find when needed and so reasonably priced for sterling).

A collection of wooden doll houses from 1883 to contemporary.

A wooden sled and an infant's pushing sleigh, restored, but left in its natural state (in other words, no plastic or velvet additions).

A New Jersey walnut slant top secret-ary desk of the 18th Century; native New Jersey, probably Princeton.

AN UNEXPECTED SHANGRI-LA OF OPEN TERRACE

Well off the main road, but within an easy walk to the village of Lawrenceville is a warm and inviting retreat tucked away on a most beautiful lot. All on one floor, this is ideal for a small family or retired couple. Large living room with full windows to view the lovely garden and raised hearth fireplace. A study with fireplace could be an elegant guest room. Two other bedrooms and 2 baths. A big kitchen is the gourmet's delight. Jalousied porch opening to patio makes entertaining easy and comfortable. In excellent condition with low maintenance and ready for occupancy. $54,000

AN ISLAND OF SPACE IN A SEA OF TREES

This is a great deal of house for the money and built among tall trees and rocks to preserve the natural setting. Spacious flag-stoned entry hall is both handsome and practical, flanked by a carpeted living room with fireplace and lovely big dining room. A paneled family room with another fireplace opens to redwood deck and the loveliness of woods and flowering shrubs. Kitchen is plenty big for family breakfasts and there is another room for a den or guest room on the first floor. Master bedroom is large with its own dressing room and bath. Three other super-sized bedrooms and bath for the kids. The basement is already set up for play room and ice hockey practice, plus laundry. A marvelous house in a fine Princeton location $82,900

1930's QUALITY OF CONSTRUCTION
1970's CONVENIENCES

Centrally air-conditioned first floor, modern, light and sunny kitchen, fire and burglar alarm system, electric garage door opener —

And a four bedroom, three and a half bath house built to last the way they used to build, with the kind of landscaping that takes years to mature! Large dining room, pleasant study, walk up attic with storage as well as living space.

Beautifully cared for, of course — and so nice to come home to. Asking $65,000 and enter into an era of gracious living when you buy this charming country estate. Partly pre-Revolutionary, partly Victorian in age, the house has been modernized in all the essentials, while still retaining the charm and feeling of a bygone time. Many fireplaces, wide mellow floor boards, beamed ceilings, a gracious front staircase — and a large and lovely home of five bedrooms and four and a half baths. Set on almost thirteen prime acres adjoining the exclusive Bedens Brook Club — with a branch of the brook running through the property. A plus is the three bedrooms, two bath apartment over the separate three car garage — great for guests and in-laws, servants, or as now, for ample rental income.

TURN YOUR BACK ON TIME

This is a show place, a property to love and cherish for the rest of your life.

189 Constitution Drive

Aptly appointed one and one third acres, this ten-room Colonial with its terrace pool and patio is a noteworthy new listing. The room-size, slate-floored entrance foyer affords access to an onulent step-down living room with decorous white marble faced fireplace and French doors opening to terrace. The gracious and commodious dining room accomodates both many guests and large furniture, its French doors also open to the terrace. The casual den, which is near the front entrance has a small fireplace which emits traditional warmth and conviviality; the "Queen-Size" kitchen has abundant storage and adjoining bright breakfast area.

The upper floor is served by main and auxiliary stairs and contains five bedrooms and three baths; master bedroom suite is separate and has a fireplace. Not to be overlooked is the panelled game room, also with a fireplace; the room-size cedar closet; and the Sylvan Pool which is in the rear court. $120,000

Surround yourself with trees, grass and history.

There's plenty of all three on what may be the highest spot between New York and Philadelphia. Certainly it's one of the most historic, if not the most beautiful. Just 15 homes will be custom built from your plans or ours abutting Greenacres Country Club Golf Course. Each will share in a sweep of common land... and in views and privacy all but vanished these days. Isn't all this worth $50,000 or more?
